Auto Financing Bill On Shelf

LANSING—(AP)—The House gave signs today of repeating history by scuttling the Little bill to regulate auto purchase financing. Chances for its defeat in the lower chamber were increased when Speaker Victor A. Knox (R-Sault Ste. Marie) ruled it required a two-thirds majority to pass.

On a question raised by Chairman Bert J. Storey (R-Belding), of the state affairs committee, Knox ruled the bill pertained to banking and thus needed at least 67 House votes.

The measure passed the Senate unanimously a few weeks ago. Last year, an almost identical measure passed the Senate but was defeated in the House.

Storey also asked whether the measure could be passed by the normal majority vote if provisions requiring the licensing of banks handling auto financing were removed.

Knox said he would like to see the amendments before ruling.

On the motion of Rep. Robert M. Montgomery (R-Lansing), House majority floor leader, debate on the measure was postponed a week.

St. Louis Man Named Gambling's Mr. Big In Senate Inquiry

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A Senate investigation of big-time gambling centered today on betting Commissioner James F. Carroll of St. Louis—the "Mr. Big" of the odds-making business.

Carroll was called to testify (10 a. m. EST) before a Senate commerce subcommittee studying a bill drafted to ban the movement of gambling information across state lines.

Carroll is known to betting men throughout the country as the man who announces the "official" winter-book gambling odds on the Kentucky Derby and the Major League baseball races. Hence his title of "commissioner."

Red Spy Hunt Witness Says He Blacked Out

Washington Pressure Proves Too Great

NEW YORK—(AP)—A man who identified himself as John J. Huber, missing witness in yesterday's Communist hearing, telephoned the Associated Press today and said "I just came to myself about an hour ago. I blacked out in Washington."

In an exhausted voice he said "the pressure has been so great on me, I've been jumping from one stand to another."

Wife Gets Call

"I just found myself at Broadway and 48th Street. I don't know what I'm doing here."

Earlier his wife in Mount Vernon, N. Y., said she had heard from her husband an FBI undercover agent, at 7:30 a. m. He told her he was in New York and going to get some rest, she said.

A few minutes later he called a friend in Washington, Larry E. Kerley. Kerley said he "had one of these 'I don't know what happened' stories."

The man who identified himself as Huber, mysteriously missing since yesterday in the Owen Lattimore case, told the Associated Press:

"I just came to myself about an hour ago. I blacked out in Washington."

Q—"How did you get to where you're calling from?"

A—"I don't know. I just found myself about an hour ago. I don't recall how I got here."

Q—"Are you going home?"

A—"No, I'm going to the first place I find and get some sleep. I called home."

Reporters and photographers who raced to the scene while the man was held on the phone failed to locate him.

Mrs. Huber had said that her husband told her he would be home tonight.

Study Given To Game Law Seizure Bill

Senate Passes Three Sales Tax Changes

LANSING—(AP)—The Senate scrutinized carefully today a bill which would restore to conservation officers part of their authority removed by recent state Supreme Court decisions.

The measure, passing through one debate yesterday, was held for further debate today.

The bill would give conservation officers all the powers of regular peace officers, including the right to carry weapons and to search and seize upon "probable cause" that a law has been violated.

As a result of the court decisions, conservation officers now are limited to search and seizures only upon a warrant and have no authority to carry sidearms.

Senator John B. Martin, Jr. (R-Grand Rapids) said the bill would allow officers to search and seize upon "reasonable grounds for suspicion."

It would not allow search of dwellings or their immediate grounds without a warrant, Martin said.

The bill also would increase the penalty for resisting arrest by a conservation officer from a $100 fine and/or 30 days in jail to a $1,000 fine and/or two years in jail. Martin said there had been a number of "very aggravated cases of assault" upon conservation officers.

The senate passed a bill designed to improve the competitive position of Michigan wines, especially against those from California.

It would peg the price of all wine of more than 16 per cent alcoholic content at 35 cents per fifth of a gallon. It would make it easier for wineries to make the heavier wine by reducing their license fee from $5,000 to $500. It would give tax rebates to wineries only if they paid growers $85 a ton for grapes, rather than the present statutory floor of $55.

The senate passed and sent to the house three changes in the sales tax laws. One exempts newspapers, periodicals and copyright films from the sales tax, another exempts rental items.

The third forgives $1,500,000 in sales taxes owed by 1,400 package liquor dealers (SDD's) for the period between last July 1 and December 28 when they did not know they were supposed to collect the tax on liquor.

The Coast Guard icebreaker Mackinaw radioed Tuesday from Duluth that Lake Superior conditions were "very unfavorable."

The Mackinaw reached Duluth after fighting her way through ice fields reportedly particularly severe in Whitefish Bay.

Two Canadian ships, the City of Windsor and City of Kingston, were lodged in the ice at the St. Marys river mouth. Both were headed for the Soo locks.

With the Mackinaw absent on the other side of Lake Superior, there was no help available to the trapped ships. The Coast Guard, however, said they could probably free themselves.

Houghton's vigorous springtime snow storm, whipped by 45-mile an hour winds, was extraordinary. Temperatures, however, were moderate.

The 24-hour storm totaled seven inches and gave Houghton a total of 274 inches since last fall, according to the weather bureau. This compared with 171.6 for 1948-49.

State Cracks Down On Home Beauty Shop

LANSING—(AP)—The state board of cosmetology today cracked down on persons operating unlicensed beauty shops in their own homes.

They were ordered to obtain state cosmetology shop licenses, which are subject to sanitary inspections.

Evelyn E. Hickman, board secretary, said the regulation was based on an attorney general's opinion.

Maragon Convicted Of Lying To Senate

WASHINGTON—(AP)—John Maragon, who used to have friends at the White House, was convicted today of lying to Senate investigators.

A federal district court jury took one hour and 36 minutes to convict him of charges that he lied in testifying last July that:

1. He had only one bank account in Washington, in 1945-46. The evidence showed he had an other then in Texas.

2. He had severed connections with Albert Veley and Co., a Chicago Importing Co., when he took a temporary job with the state department overseas in 1945.

But Maragon was cleared on one of the main counts the government brought against him—that he perjured himself in saying he negotiated no business with the government and received no money for negotiations from 1945 to until the middle of last year.

Maragon could be sent to jail for as little as eight months to two years or for as long as 40 months to 10 years on each count.

The jury of nine men and three women got the case at 10:54 a. m. (EST).

Once a Greek-born Kansas City bootblack, later a friend of presidential military aide Harry Vaughan, Maragon now is on trial on charges of lying to senators about his financial affairs and business contacts with the government.

Board Tackles Diesel Dispute

CHICAGO—(AP)—The National (Railway) mediation board will meet here tomorrow to attempt to negotiate an agreement to avert a strike called for May 10 by railroad firemen against four major railroads.

The strike by some 18,000 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen was postponed Monday for two weeks under a truce agreement sponsored by Board Chairman Francis A. O'Neill, Jr. It was to have been started this morning against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, the Southern Railway, the Pennsylvania Railroad west of Harrisburg, Pa., and the New York Central and affiliated lines west of Buffalo.

The new conferences between the carriers and the union before the board will be held behind closed doors in a loop (Palmer House) hotel.

The union called the strike to enforce its demands for an extra fireman on multiple unit diesel locomotives, which now are operated by an engineer and one fireman.

Roads In Houghton County Impassable Because Of Storms

HOUGHTON—As a result of the severe storm of the last two days, between 500 and 600 miles of secondary roads in Houghton county are impassable, according to Carl Winkler, county highway engineer. In the meantime, he meantime, he said, people in the rural districts will have to use their own equipment to get out to the paved highways. Winkler also said all indications are that school buses will not be able to run for an indefinite period, probably several weeks. Winkler estimated that the county road system had been damaged to the extent of $20,000 in the spring breakup prior to this week's storm and the damage now is doubled. The Houghton county airport reports a total snowfall of 274 inches since last fall, an all time record.

Fast Fighters Stationed At Selfridge Base

Air Force Speeds Up Michigan Defenses

By FRANK KENESSON

MT. CLEMENS, Mich.—(AP)—The Air Force stretched a new protective arm of defense around Michigan's mighty industrial centers today.

It was the beginning of a program that will convert the 56th Fighter group at Selfridge Air Force base, to the sleek new F-86 Sabre Jets, newest and fastest fighter-reconnaissance planes in use by the Air Force.

Shooting Stars Replaced

Swiftly, on a replacement schedule of one plane a day, the 56th will get 76 of the super-streamlined 700-mile-an-hour Sabres from the North American Aviation company. Within less than two months, the three tactical squadrons of the 56th group will be completely converted to the ultra new Jet Fighters, discarding the F-80 Shooting Stars with which it has been equipped.

The first two of the Selfridge group's new Sabres were ferried here yesterday from March Field in California, streaking three-fourths of the distance across the continent in slightly over four hours flying time.

In the last leg of the trip two pilots of the 56th Fighter group, Lt. Col. Francis S. Gabreski and Capt. Howard S. Askelson, brought the whining Jets the 220 miles from Wright Field at Dayton, Ohio, in less than 20 minutes.

Range of 500 Miles

Four of the planes had been scheduled to make the trip from California for delivery here. But one never took off from March Field and a second was held at Dayton for minor repairs. They probably will be ferried on in to Selfridge Field today.

The Sabres delivered here are designed to afford a fan of defense northward for Michigan industrial centers.

They have a tactical reconnaissance range of 500 miles and can fly at an altitude of 40,000 feet. Their extreme streamlining is marked by a 35-degree sweep-back of wings and tail, which gives them higher speeds than have been possible with conventional or straight wing Jets.

The low-wing single place Fighters have pressurized cabins for altitude flying and are equipped with oxygen as well as the latest radio, radar and navigational aids.

Holds World Record

The Sabre Jet holds what the Air Force claims as an unofficial world speed record of 710 miles an hour, established in 1949 by Air Force Maj. Frank Everest who flew from Dayton, Ohio, to Washington, D. C., in 33 minutes, 3 seconds.

Officially the Sabre has done 670,881 mph. Actually, they probably equal that speed nearly every day.

Col. Gabreski, group commander of the 56th, said he was flying at about 650 miles an hour when his plane first whistled over the Selfridge base on arrival from Dayton.

And because of low-hanging weather he had the plane down to only 1,500 feet, where the atmosphere is too dense for maximum speed.

"We can sure defend this area with a few of these," Col. Gabreski remarked with a grin as he stepped out of the new Jet. "They can do everything."

Dirty Weather And Ice Tie Up Shipping In Upper Lakes Area

(By The Associated Press)

Ice and dirty weather tied up virtually all shipping on the upper Great Lakes today.

A long delay from the full opening of navigation was forecast as a result, with current ship movement almost at a dead halt.

An unofficial report from the Coast Guard at Sault Ste. Marie said it might be "three weeks to a month" before shipping would get into full swing.

Five ships were stuck in ice in the St. Marys river 23 miles below Sault Ste. Marie, and the Coast Guard tug Kaw tied up here taking on supplies before attempting to free them.

Icebound were the Sanzibar, loaded with coal for Sault Ste. Marie, the oil tanker Translake, the freighter Ferandock, and two package boats, the City of Windsor and the City of Kingston.

Snow and rain have pelted the area for the last 24 hours.

At the same time the Houghton area was caught in a heavy snowfall and gale-like winds. This had lessened today, however.

Already delayed for about a month, shipping on the upper

Grand Marais Tug Is Trapped

GRAND MARAIS, Mich.—(AP)—A pair of commercial fishermen from this little Lake Superior village didn't show much concern today for the frozen lake's dangerous wind-whipped ice pack.

Marooned more than five days 10 miles off shore in their tiny fishing tug, the two men, Robert Sellman and Reuben Knutsen, finally were rescued last night from the ice that had clamped a vise around their tug out in the lake last Thursday.

Today, freshened by a night's rest at home, the fishermen headed their tug Williams Jr. right back into the lake to try again to set the first nets of the season.

Sellman and Knutsen had refused to abandon their little tug after it was frozen fast into the ice last week, though three companions walked ashore on the ice sheet Saturday.

Coast Guardsmen from the Grand Marais lifeboat station set out in a rowboat to take them food after a six-hour struggle against the frozen waters they reached the tug and left a two-day supply of food. Later Lt. David Gershowitz, piloting a Coast Guard helicopter, dropped the men more food.

Yesterday two tugs from Grand Marais reached the Marooned vessel and succeeded in freeing her to return to the village.

East Indonesia Battles Revolt

By CHRIS SCHEFFER

JAKARTA, U. S. I.—(AP)—A new revolt against the Central Indonesian government was reported today to have broken out in the state of East Indonesia.

Reliable neutral sources said separatists on the island of Ambon, traditional capital of the Moluccan Islands, had proclaimed an independent state of the South Moluccas.

The separatists included local authorities on the island and were supported by Indonesian soldiers of the Netherlands East Indies army awaiting transfer to the Indonesian Federal army.

The revolt was the fourth outbreak against the young central Indonesian government and the second on Ambon. Indonesian soldiers on the island mutinied in March but the Jakarta government later announced the revolt had been put down.

The neutral sources said the separatists were led by Dr. Soumokil, until recently attorney general of the state of East Indonesia, of which Ambon was a part.

Urge Industrial Relations Courses In High Schools

Industrial relations courses in high schools, to prepare students for the problems they will face in labor-management relations after graduation, was urged by John Luecke, federal mediator, at a meeting of U. P. vocational educators here yesterday.

Luecke, a former Michigan senator, informed his audience that since 1930 the labor movement in the United States has been strong, and that in the past 15 years the total of persons belonging to organized labor groups has increased from 2,500,000 to 17,000,000.

Money Not Everything
This increase, Luecke said, has brought about a change in the thinking of management, and has thrust greater responsibilities on organized labor. When unionism first began in this country, the philosophy was betterment of workers in the group and betterment of the community and the nation. Today, monetary gains are sometimes stressed, but money is not everything, the speaker pointed out.

The 700,000 students who will graduate from high school should have beforehand knowledge of what they will face when they leave school and seek work, Luecke asserted. He emphasized that the schools were the best place for students to obtain the background needed for a true, intelligent understanding of labor-management problems.

Compulsory Arbitration
Several universities have installed departments for study of industrial relations, and the time must come when high schools also must offer this information, for the problem of industrial peace is a community problem, Luecke pointed out.

The former Michigan senator stated he was not perturbed by present situations in industrial relations and that they would work themselves out. Not everything, he said, is being done to make industrial relations smoother, but that will come in a few years.

"Neither management nor labor," the federal commissioner said, want compulsory arbitration. If arbitration were compulsory, so could other factors in our economy. Deciding where it would stop would be easy," he added.

In 1937, after the U. S. Supreme Court declared the National Labor Relations act unconstitutional, the U. S. had more strikes than at any other time in its history. An important factor in this situation was the fact that 75 per cent of the striking groups had been organized for only three months or less, Luecke noted.

Escanaba Experienced
"Generally," Mr. Luecke said, "the older, more experienced labor and management groups arrive at settlements easier and quicker than newly organized groups."

Luecke reviewed the Escanaba labor picture, and pointed out that it is one of the oldest "organized" cities in the state. He traced the growth of unions here, from the 500 iron ore trimmers who organized to protect their wages and working conditions as far back as 1890.

Escanaba has had very few strikes, Luecke recalled. This industrial peace is based, he said, on the fact that the unions in Escanaba and management have many years of experience and understanding in facing industrial problems.

so doing, he assumes more responsibility, and his citizenship should increase accordingly," Luecke emphasized.

"Industrial peace in one of the biggest and most important problems in the nation. The trend in the past years has not been too bad, but we can still do better. The schools can be a great aid in preparing students for responsible work as citizens, either as members of labor or management," he concluded.

The meeting Tuesday afternoon concluded the Upper Peninsula vocational education conference begun here Monday morning. About 40 U. P. educators and several state officials were here for the sessions.

The conference was devoted to outlining aims of vocational education, steps necessary for vocational education to more adequately serve the needs of youth, and discussion of special problems in small communities. Co-operative arrangements, use of community facilities and the participation in the college agreement plan were cited as ways of improving vocational education arrangements.

Monday afternoon, educators visited the Catherine Bonifas technical school, home economics departments, business education and veterans training sections and counseling, guidance and cadet teacher arrangements at the Escanaba high schools. Several educators visited similar units in the Stephenson public schools.

Smelt Run Is Hit By Cold Weather

Continued low temperatures today was held responsible for the slump in the spring smelt spawning run up Delta county streams, according to the conservation department.

A break in the cold wave is expected to bring the smelt back into the streams and rivers. No smelt were received at local markets today.

The Griffin Associated Fisheries of Milwaukee again will purchase smelt at Kipling when the run resumes, it was announced by B. A. Griffin. Russell Behling will be at Kipling during the spring smelt run period.

Griffin said the smelt will be purchased, cleaned, packed in one-pound cellophane bags, and frozen for the market. Some of the processing will be done at Kipling, as in former years.

Delta Students Get MSC Awards

375 Scholarships Are Granted

Three Delta county students are among 375 Michigan high school seniors who have been awarded scholarships by Michigan State college.

Two of the students, Fred R. McFadden and Robert S. Myrsten, attend Escanaba Senior high school, and one, Alice L. Terens, attends St. Joseph high school here.

The scholarships cover all tuition and course fees for one year at Michigan State college, and can be renewed for four years if the student maintains a high scholastic average. Prof. A. J. Clark, chairman of the MSC scholarship committee, announced.

Began in 1948
These awards are the second annual series made available to state high school graduates under a scholarship plan inaugurated at the college in 1948. Grants are awarded on the basis of high scholastic average, financial need and good citizenship characteristics.

The scholarship grants are made available to one student in each Michigan public high school and 100 are reserved for distribution at large among the larger high schools. Previously Michigan State distributed 64 scholarships yearly. The total number of scholarships made available under the recent program now totals 750.

School Lunch, Finance Will Be Discussed

Common plans for school hot lunches next year and problems of school finance will be discussed at a meeting of the Delta County Rural School Board Members association Friday.

The meeting will be held at Perkins and begins at 8 p. m. Walter Van de Weghe of Kipling, president of the association, will be in charge.

In the past year re-imbursements for the school hot lunch program were cut, and some school districts in the county need to make other arrangements, Haggle Quarnstrom, county school superintendent, states.

Hermansville To Go On Fast Time

Effective at 2 a. m. April 30 clocks will be set ahead one hour at Hermansville and that community will be the first in Menominee to go on fast time.

The scheduled time change was announced today by Supervisor Irwin L. Sutherland of Meyer township, in which Hermansville is located.

The decision to go on fast time followed similar action taken in Iron Mountain and Kingsford, and because Escanaba and other communities in the area are on Eastern Standard Time, Sutherland explained.

Federal Funds For Hospital Projects Given Tentative Approval

Includes Work At St. Francis

50-Bed Addition Is On Project List

Construction of a 50-bed addition to St. Francis hospital in Escanaba was another step nearer realization today following tentative approval yesterday by the House in Washington of $150,000,000 for the federal aid hospital construction program.

Rep. John Bennett of Ontonagon said the approval means Michigan can go ahead with its planned hospital program for next year, according to the Associated Press.

Bennett took it for granted that the House would sustain the tentative action later as necessary and that the Senate would also approve the $150,000,000. Michigan then would get about $5,000,000.

Addition Cost $750,000

The addition to St. Francis hospital, estimated to cost a total of $750,000, might be started in 1951 if building plans and total financing are ready.

The anticipated federal grant would be about 55 per cent of the total cost, with the remainder of the funds to be provided by the Sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis and by local contributions.

Besides the construction of a 50-bed addition, the project also provides for the expenditure of $30,000 additional for remodeling the non-fire resistant portion of the existing structure. The remodeling project, however, is not eligible for federal aid.

Tentatively the plans provide for the construction of a three-story east wing on the north end of the hospital, 26½ feet in length. These plans were drawn several years ago and are subject to probable revision. St. Francis is now a 100-bed hospital and the eventual goal is 200 beds.

Republican Backing

After the House vote in Washington yesterday, Bennett told a reporter:

"This action permits the Michigan hospital program to go ahead as planned, particularly as it affects the smaller communities of the state.

"The program was designed to provide badly needed hospital facilities in communities that are unable to finance such programs by themselves."

Voting along with Bennett for the $150,000,000 were Reps. Potter, Blackney and Engel, all Republicans.

Voting to back up the committee and keep the $750,000,000 were Reps. Wolcott, Ford, Hoffman and Michener, also all Republicans.

Most of the other members were absent. A record vote was not taken.

Five in U. P.

Hugh J. McGoldrick, director of the Michigan state office of hospital survey and construction, had advised the Michigan congressmen that many of the 30 hospitals now planned in the state would be jeopardized if the $150,000,000 authorization were not voted.

Congress voted last year to authorize $150,000,000 a year for aid in hospital construction.

Several small cities in Michigan have voted bond issues or made other commitments for hospital construction based on such a program, with the federal share of the cost to vary from 40 to 60 per cent, depending on the needs of the city.

McGoldrick said these were among the cities planning hospitals: Paw Paw, Greenville, West Branch, Tawas City, L'Anse, Ionia, Fremont, Charlotte, Dowagiac, Marshall, Muskegon, Escanaba, Owosso, South Haven, Marquette, Hart, Grayling, Mt. Clemens, St. Ignace, Traverse City, Frankfort, Albion, Charlevoix and Hancock.

High Waters Halt Traffic On M-94

Highway M-94 was closed today to through traffic between Manistique and Munising by high water covering the road in the Stutz Creek section 13 miles north of Manistique, according to the Schoolcraft county road commission.

While there, Major Snyder will fire the new 120 millimeter anti-aircraft gun. During World War II the standard anti-aircraft weapon was the 90 mm gun.

Forest Service Starts Pine Plantings Soon

ECKERMAN PLANTING—Norway pine seedlings, planted at Eckerman in 1934, have advanced to the stage shown above. The forest service expects to start its 1950 plantings Monday.

Approximately one and three-quarters million pine seedlings will be planted this year in the Upper Michigan national forests, C. L. Harrison, supervisor, said today.

Start of planting operations has been delayed by cold weather but it is hoped crews will be able to start next Monday.

Ray W. Knudson, local staff man, will have overall charge of planting operations. District rangers will supervise work in their respective areas.

In the Marquette national forest, 600,000 jackpine and 100,000 red (Norway) pine will be planted.

In the Hiawatha, 750,000 red pine will be planted, 150,000 jackpine and 125,000 white pine.

Finish June 1

The white pine plantings will be the first in the area in about 10 years, Knudson said. White pine needs heavier soil and is susceptible to blister rust, pine weevil and to the ravages of deer and rabbits. Hence, it is not easy to make successful plants, Knudson asserted.

The forest service hopes to complete planting operations by June 1 because, after that time, trees start to grow in the nurseries and are difficult to plant successfully.

As far as possible, local labor will be hired in the planting areas. It is estimated planting operations will require about 125 men for four weeks.

Three planting machines will be used in the operations. The forest service has had two machines in operation in the past and a new one is being finished now at the service garage in Rapid River and is expected to be ready for use by Monday.

Planting machines speed up work considerably, Knudson said, but cannot be used in all types of terrain. They are used almost exclusively in open areas where there is no brush, stumps or large boulders.

95,000 Acres Covered

Since the first plantings were made in 1926, about 95,000 acres have been reforested in the Upper Michigan forest, Knudson said. About 40,000 or 50,000 acres remain to be planted but the extent of those plantings will depend largely upon future appropriations by congress.

Some trees already have been marketed from first plantings for Christmas trees, Knudson said. The Johnson creek area north of Nahma junction currently has several hundred acres where there is some marketable jackpine but as yet it is somewhat spotty and no commercial operators have been willing to cut it.

Knudson said plantings this year, as in the past, would be made to allow openings for game cover to permit wildlife to flourish and to permit access by hunters.

Will Improve Pioneer Trail

Plan 30 New Tables For County Parks

Considerable improvement is scheduled this spring to popular Pioneer Trail Park, 90-acre recreation area owned by the county on US-2-41 between Escanaba and Gladstone, according to William Karas, Delta road commission superintendent-engineer.

The county parks are administered by the road commission with funds appropriated by the county board of supervisors. This year the appropriation was increased from the usual $400 to $2,000.

New Picnic Tables
Karas reported that 30 new rustic picnic tables are being constructed and will be ready to place in the county parks for this season.

To reduce cost, several old trees some of them fire-scarred were cut selectively in Pioneer Trail Park and traded to the Shepek Dimension company for kiln-dried lumber. This lumber will be used for the table tops.

The posts for table legs and braces came from forty-acres of land owned by the county on which a gravel pit is located. In this way materials costs were kept to a minimum.

Other work to improve Pioneer Trail Park will include the re-pairing, cleaning, and painting of the toilets; and if funds are sufficient to grade the ball diamond and surface it with clay. Picnic stoves will be repaired and placed in the park for use this spring.

Some of the new tables will be placed at Sae Bay and Dutch Mill county parks.

United States Will Not Pay Off British Debts To India, Pakistan

AFTER an extensive study of the British economic problems in India, Pakistan and southeast Asia, the British government has finally come up with a solution. Let Uncle Sam pay the British debts to those countries, the British government has proposed.

The British government went into hock to the tune of $9 billion to the southeastern Asiatic countries during the war years. Now these countries are pressing Britain for payment since they, too, are in financial need. So Britain, unable to meet the obligation, has politely asked Uncle Sam to intervene and pick up the check.

The British have called their proposal "exploratory," which presumably means that they tossed it out to test American reaction.

The American reaction has been decidedly antagonistic, as the British may well have anticipated. There simply is no possibility that the American congress, plagued with financial woes of its own, will move in to pay a $9 billion British war debt to India, Pakistan or any other country.

Senator Taft stated the situation clearly in a statement yesterday when he pointed out that the British loan of 3 1/2 billions was made by the United States with the understanding that Britain would make a long term settlement of sterling debts.

John Bull can be pretty sure that he will not succeed in shifting this debt to the American taxpayers. We have troubles enough of our own, with our budget running in the red and with a federal debt of a quarter of a trillion dollars.

Dogs Must Be On Leashes After May 1

THE police department's plan to ticket dog owners for permitting dogs to run at large after May 1, rather than to attempt to catch stray dogs and impound them, is a sensible method of enforcing the city ordinance. The system was tried last year with considerable success.

The dog catching program that was in effect prior to last year never worked out very satisfactorily. The dog catchers were able to catch the friendly little pooches that were only a minor nuisance but the big fleet-footed dogs that really wrecked gardens were too wily and much too fast for the dog catcher's net.

Also, the task of dog catching provided the basis for some poor public relations incidents involving the police department. Youngsters find it difficult to gain respect for a police officer who would seize their playful little dog.

The most important phase of the new policy, however, is the recognition of the fact that it is the dog owner, not the dog, who is in violation of the city ordinance. It is up to owners to see that their animals are leashed and if they fail in that responsibility, they expose themselves to the penalties of the law.

Occasionally, a police officer has considerable difficulty determining the owner of a stray dog but on the whole the task is still simpler than trying to net a greyhound who refuses to respond to a dog catcher's whistle. And much more effective.

FABLE OF THE FREE LUNCH

(From Steelways)

There is a fable about an ancient king, who troubled by the economic woes of his people, called upon the economists of his kingdom for advice. Confused by their conflicting theories and counsel, he commanded them to prepare a short and simple text on economics for him. After many months, they brought him many volumes replete with charts and graphs.

In fury, the king banished half the economists and commanded the other half to produce a text which he could understand. One after another they made reports that went over his head, and one after another they went into exile. Finally, all but one economist was gone.

In fear and trembling, this last economist appeared before the king.

"Your majesty," he quavered, "I have reduced this subject of economics to a single sentence. In nine words, I will reveal to you all the wisdom to be distilled from all the economists who once practiced in your realm:—There is no such thing as a free lunch!"

DOWN WITH EXHAUST NOISE

(Milwaukee Journal)

Noisy trucks are creating a growing resentment throughout the country, according to the American Trucking association, whose equipment and advisory committee is planning to do something about it.

The committee has called an Exhaust Noise and Muffler conference in Washington May 8 to 12, at which experts hope to find a way to silence unnecessary trucking noise.

This is a worthy cause, indeed.

Allowance Problem

By Gordon Martin

There's a problem that arises in the household every week, when your daughter comes to see you in a manner very meek. First she says she loves her Daddy, who has always understood, and she's quick to cite the fact that her behavior has been good. So you know that once again you face a problem of the past, as your daughter tells you sadly her allowance didn't last.

Now it seems that on her way to school, she passes by a store, where there's lots of yummy candy that all little girls adore. Or perhaps it was the popcorn stand attracting extra dimes, and she says that, after all, she's got to treat the kids sometimes. And it's true a special movie helped to drain her tiny purse, but another thriller's showing now, which makes her problem worse.

Then she says she's helped her Mommie, made her bed and picked up clothes, and that's worth another quarter, as most any daddy knows. And she promises that good she'll be for weeks and months and years, and it's then her youthful earnestness to you—your child endears. She can have the extra quarter—bless her young and eager heart—but you hope she doesn't know she surely had you from the start.

MARTIN

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Despite the hue and cry about friends of the Chinese Communists in the state department, top-secret documents in the files of the joint chiefs of staff will reveal that major decisions on China were made, not by state department advisers but by hard-headed generals.

The salty seadog, Admiral William Leahy, the sober military planner, General George C. Marshall, and their associates on the joint chiefs staff pushed the most far-reaching decision made by the United States on the Far East.

The decision, argued back and forth in the White House and the Pentagon for weeks, was to admit Soviet Russia to a partnership in Asia. Back of this were frightening military logistics and a lack of faith in the atomic bomb.

The somber argument given President Roosevelt his most trusted military advisers was, "The invasion of Japan will cost 100,000 American casualties unless a Russian attack across Manchuria pins down every Jap unit on the mainland."

Simultaneously there were skeptical reports to the joint chiefs from General Leslie Groves, chief of the Manhattan district, which said the United States could not count on the atomic bomb to achieve major damage. Such leading scientists as Dr. William Oppenheimer opposed Groves, pleaded that the new weapon could end the war, but Groves' view prevailed at the Pentagon in 1944-45.

That was why the joint chiefs were prepared to make major concessions to Russia to prevent overwhelming loss of life in the proposed invasion of Japan. In fact, they even agreed to give the USSR railway access to Pacific, Baltic Sea and the Persian Gulf. This was much further than FDR ever went at Yalta.

DECISION ON CHINA

The decision that Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government was a lost cause was recommended later by General Marshall after his disillusioning experience in China.

To a closed-door session of the senate foreign relations committee, General Marshall explained: "American aid is not getting to the fighting forces. American recommendations are ignored. Chiang is an honest, if stubborn man, who is surrounded by independent war lords and thieves. I have seen Chiang give instructions in good faith that were never carried out down the line."

Last winter, a secret military intelligence report led to a decision not to send American military aid to Nationalist forces in Formosa. This report stated that a majority of the 6,500,000 Formosans look on Chiang and his Chinese as "carpet baggers."

Hundreds of Formosans, the report stated, were ruthlessly killed in the early months of Chinese occupation in 1945. During any battle for Formosa, the natives would be unfriendly to Chiang and sabotage his operations. Also, the report contended, the Chinese troops were in bad morale, because they wanted to return to their homes and families on the mainland.

One "if" was appended on this decision. If Chiang would voluntarily surrender authority to the Formosans, then the United States should support an independent Formosa.

Note — An unpublished report by the Truman committee on corruption in China was responsible for President Roosevelt's distinct coolness to Madame Chiang Kai-shek on her last visit to him. Harry Truman, then senator from Missouri, advised FDR that as much as half of the American goods flown across the hump and hauled across the Burma Road never reached the fighting fronts, and that one Chinese war lord was actually sending tungsten to the Japs.

BEDSHEETS FOR KKK

A delegation of prominent Jewish leaders called on Attorney General McGrath the other day. Led by B'nai B'rith President Frank Goldman they presented McGrath with a copy of the Anti-Defamation League's explosive new book "A Measure of Freedom."

In the course of their talk, Goldman, who hails from Lowell, Mass., asked the attorney general, also a New Englander, to support a federal bill outlawing interstate travel of masked or hooded Klansmen.

McGrath, whose religion does not make him a Klan admirer, replied: "The bill makes sense to me."

Then he added, with a twinkle: "But we wouldn't want to do anything to interfere with the sale of bedsheets manufactured in New England, would we?"

TROUBLESOME TWINS

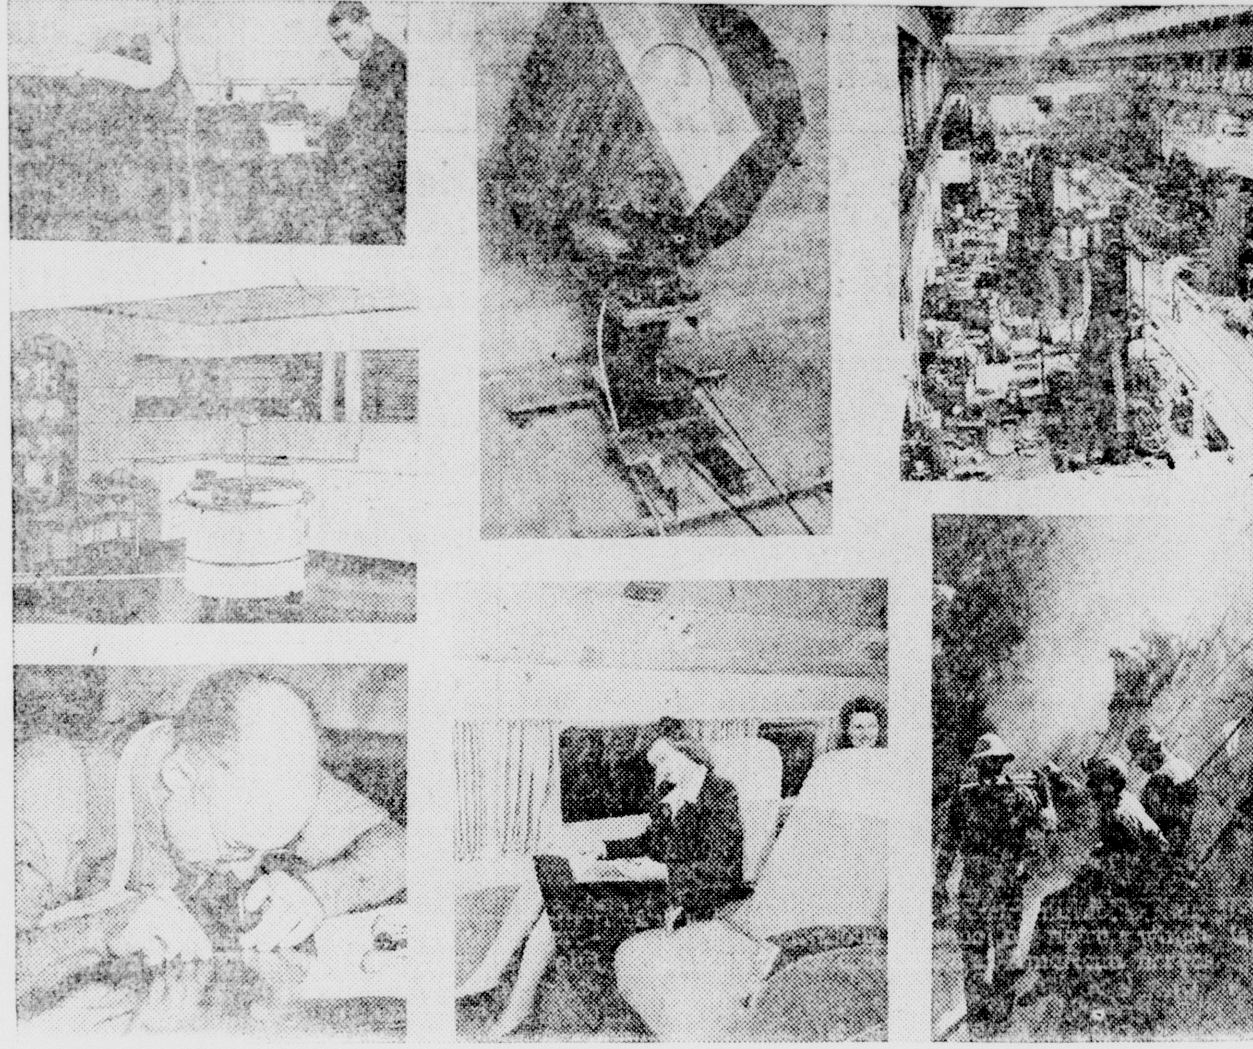

Crevice and crevasse are similar in meaning, but unlike in pronunciation. A crevice is a narrow crack or split. Pronounce it: KREV-iss. A crevasse is a deep fissure in a glacier or snow field. Accent the second syllable, thus: kruh-VASS.

Eminent and imminent should be carefully distinguished. Eminent means "of a high place or degree," as, an eminent statesman. Pronounce it: EM-in-nt. Imminent means "close at hand; threatening to occur," as, another strike seems imminent; in imminent danger. Say: Im-in-nt.

Genius and genus are closely akin, but the words should not be confused. Genius designates extraordinary intellectual or inventive power; also a person of unusual talent, as: Einstein, the genius of the quantum theory. Pronounce it: JEEN-yuss. The word genus means, "a class or group," as, the cow is of the genus Bos. Say: JEE-nuss.

Won't and wont appear to be twins, but they are not even kissing cousins. Wont means "will not." It is the contraction of the archaic "well not." It has the long "o" sound as in "woe," toe. Say: wont. The word wont (no apostrophe) means "the accustomed way; a habitual manner," as, he is wont to spend his summers in the country. The word rhymes with "punt, runt." Say: wunt.

We're still waiting for the day when a "straight" ticket will be a guarantee.

NOISE IS LITERALLY becoming the nation's No. 1 headache, and while various steps are being taken to get it under control, the problem is far from solved. Upper left, a test which reveals the effect of noise upon the muscular tension of a sleeper. Top center, this is a noise making device rigged up by the National Bureau of Standards to test the sound-control properties of various materials and types of walls and buildings. It creates a terrific racket, but not worse than most cities and towns produce normally. Top right, in factories large and small, noise takes a heavy toll of worker eficiency. Center left, room in a modern house which has been soundproofed. Note ceiling. Lower left, tests have proved that quiet surroundings raise both the quality and quantity of output; and that's true for precision workers and executives no less than for those in other activities. Bottom center, all forms of modern transportation are being soundproofed. This airplane interior is typical. Bottom right, excavating and drilling work adds enormously to today's tremendous volume of noise, which is jabbing away constantly at American nerves.

Noise Is Battering U. S. Nerves; Is Fast Becoming Major Problem

By HERBERT HOLLANDER

If noises are annoying you, often to the point of distraction, you aren't alone by a long shot.

Noise is fast becoming a top problem not only in big cities, where it is at its worst, but in towns and villages as well.

All kinds of noises are multiplying fast and seem to be getting worse.

It isn't only the clamor of traffic on a busy street or highway, nor even the frequent roar of aircraft overhead, although both add their decibels to the din.

It is, in addition, loud radios and televisions which can make life in a farmhouse as distracting as in a city apartment. It's blaring phonographs, too, banging typewriters, factory whistles, motorists blowing horns needlessly night and day, crashing elevator doors, flatwheeled street cars, screeching brakes, rattling buses—these and dozens and scores of other sounds which in repeated and mounting cacophony rasp the nerves of tens of millions of Americans.

Assist by Science

Some steps are being taken to halt the din. A few communities have undertaken noise prevention and noise control programs and have met with some success—especially in those cases where enforcement is strict and substantial fines are levied on violators. And Noise Abatement Week, held in April, finds numerous national authorities, civic officials, scientists, public health leaders, and research specialists all cooperating in seeking solutions to the problem.

In addition to noise prevention drives, which for the most part have been scattered and have brought relief to relatively but a handful of all those who suffer from the uncontrolled roar of modern life, science has stepped in with some assistance in the form of soundproofing devices for homes, apartments, office buildings and factories. But those who have such protection still are in the minority.

Elaborate tests have proved that noise is definitely harmful to the human machine, and that uncontrolled noise not only can and does lower efficiency but can cause serious nervous and physical ills.

Measuring devices used today are ultra-modern. They include electronic equipment, stroboscopes, sound analyzers, beat frequency oscillators, and others. These devices reveal that relatively few persons, whether in stores, offices, factories, outdoors or in the home, live and work under noise intensity of less than 50 units. (100 units is an intensity level enough to make the ear tingle with pain).

The effect the increasing noises of modern civilization have upon workers in the normal course of a day's labor are revealed in tests which covered a period of months with four typists as subjects. Energy expenditure was measured by the collection and analysis of exhaled air. A converted gas mask was strapped to the subject's face and connected to a polygraph which with a system of tubing, from the analyzer the total calories expended were computed.

Testing Noise Effect

The typists, two young men and two young women, three of whom possessed overaverage skill while the fourth was phenomenally speedy, worked in a specially constructed test chamber, 15 by 6 feet with a 9-foot ceiling. A "noise machine" was built which reproduced the sounds invading the usual busy city office. During all the experimental days the machine was in full blast making sounds like an electric motor, ball bearings rotated in a hexagonal sheet iron drum, an auto siren and a telephone bell, intermittently and automatically. When the hard plastered walls of the test chamber were uncovered the full effects of these noises were actually increased through reverberation. On half the experimental days the sound intensity was reduced through the use of noise-absorbing panels, probably 50 percent.

After a uniform breakfast the subjects walked to the test chamber, the masks were attached and sealed with adhesive tape. For half an hour each subject remained seated before the typewriter without actually typing. At the end of this period a sample of air was gathered and analyzed to ascertain the resting energy expenditure.

As soon as the resting air had been collected the noise machine was started and the typists began work. The same letter was written over and over, about 2,000 copies being made in the course of the experiments. Every fifteen minutes during the two-hour period a sample of exhaled air was analyzed.

The experiments disclosed that when the noise in the test chamber was reduced by only 15 percent there was a 5 percent increase in output and that about one fourth less bodily energy was burned up in doing the typing. That so small a decrease in noise resulted in 5 percent greater output was judged to be due to the unredacted noise intensity being just above what may be called the critical level, that is, before the 15 percent reduction the noise in the test chamber may have been at the point in intensity where it produced ill effects. This was indicated by the fact that reducing the noise still more did not affect the output figures.

Apparently there is a critical point in the intensity scale of noises above which a "rear reaction" and other effects are found.

Industry Is Interested

The consumption of about 25 percent more bodily energy due to the work under the noisier conditions was revealed.

Fear reactions induced by noise are getting intensive study. Everyone is aware of the effects upon the nerves of unsuspected noises such as back-firing automobiles or the slamming of a door but the universal notion is that noises to which one has grown accustomed have no harmful effects. Experiments, however, do not bear out this supposition. During sleep experiments under controlled conditions it was found that when a car noisily passed the window of a sleeping subject in the middle of the night the noise caused a perceptible rise in his blood pressure although the sleeper did not awaken.

The question of whether an organism may get so accustomed to noise that it will have no ill effects appears to be answered by tests of becoming insensible to noise they seemed to become the reverse.

In view of the inroads noise is making into efficiency it is not hard to understand why industry is taking a deep interest in the subject of its control. The experience of community anti-noise organization in attempting to curb noise at its source demonstrates that the tillers in this field have a long, hard row before them. City ordinances have had some effect in the suppression of unnecessary men-made noises.

Partial solution of the problem appears to lie in defensive measures against noises which cannot be prevented by legal methods or man's ingenuity. To protect workers in offices, stores and factories, patients in hospitals, children in schools, as well as in homes, many agencies are directing their efforts toward finding means of toning down such all-pervasive noises from within and without as cannot otherwise be controlled.

The National Bureau of Standards at Washington is constantly testing various kinds of building materials to determine their sound absorbing qualities and important discoveries have been recorded. Equipped with a sound chamber and a building in which all degrees of reverberation can be artificially created and equipped with delicately balanced instruments, a staff of especially trained physicists is methodically recording how well each material submitted performs the function of insulating buildings against noise.

While substantial progress has been made in the soundproofing of buildings, both new and old, the task is not so easy as many may think, nor the results invariably good.

More About Roads

Dear Editor:

Bravo—and how True!—The writer of the letter, which appeared in your Saturday's press about rural roads, sure hit the nail on the head. It's the sentiments of a lot of us rural folks.

About the only thing the road commission does for the rural folks is to keep the roads plowed during the winter. During the spring and summer we are forgotten.

We get our roads graded about twice in the summer and the rest of the time the roads are just like a washboard and nearly take your car apart in going over them. You either have to crawl along at five miles an hour, or step it up to 80 and forget the road is there.

It's about time the rural roads were given a bit of attention instead of squandering the money. Yep, that letter in the Saturday press had the true facts.

"Another Rural Motorist".

EVERLASTING ISSUE

France and Germany are again quarreling over disposition of the Saar, the French saying that they must have it to prevent another World War, and the Germans replying that if it is wrested from them there can be no peace in Europe. It seems odd that they should fall out once again over this issue, which last time was settled by a small plebiscite and six years of mutual extermination.—From Detroit News.

Thoughts

But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition.—Timothy 6:9.

Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be; but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is.—I John 3:2.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE SHOCKERS—The menacing sea lamprey is becoming better known to the general public. Even Readers Digest, somewhat belatedly, comes forth this month "warning the nation" of the lamprey danger to Great Lakes fish.

Roy Jensen of Jensen & Jensen fish market, Escanaba, returned from a National Fisheries Institute meeting at Chicago to report that a lamprey exhibit was presented there to the fishing industry representatives. And at the Sport Show at Detroit twelve live lampreys caused shudders among the sportsmen.

But the unhandsome lamprey created the most disagreeable shock at a recent Shriners dinner when Oliver Smith, Port Washington commercial fisherman, took several live lampreys to a Masonic dinner. He delivered an impassioned plea for lamprey control—and suddenly tossed the wriggling snakelike parasites on the table!

The effect was immediate, with the diners beating a hasty retreat from that section of the table.

HOBBY HAPPY—Hobbies can make you happy—and useful as well! Charles R. Henderson of 912 Seventh avenue south, retired railroadman, finds satisfaction working in his basement wood shop.

One of his latest products was a gift to his Rotary club of Escanaba, which he has served as secretary - treasurer for many years.

The gift was a lectern, or reading desk with a slanted top, on which the speaker can arrange his notes. The lectern is made of wood, finely finished, and complete to the Rotary wheel insignia on its front.

TRAVELING AROUND — Lighthouse keepers are not ordinarily great travelers. Especially if they are at Minneapolis Shoal lighthouse, which is perched on a crib built up from the rock bottom, and is no more than a little island of concrete.

Walter Hanson of Escanaba, retired lighthouse keeper, was officer in charge at Minneapolis Shoal for several years. Later he served at Manistique and was retired from there a few years ago.

Last fall Mr. and Mrs. Hanson started out on a little trailer trip. They visited 19 states from Michigan to Florida to California and return. Today they will leave again, heading south for a leisurely trip that will bring them into New Mexico in June for the graduation of their son, Norman, from University of New Mexico at Albuquerque.

THEY FLY THERE—Last winter while the Walter Hansons were visiting their son, an engineering student at the university, they were told that 500 people in Albuquerque had seen "flying saucers."

Among those who had seen the "flying saucers" was their son. He told his parents that the largest of the group of flying disks was red in color and appeared to be about forty feet in diameter. Not only that—but trailing along behind it were several smaller "saucers" that were silver in color!

THE BANANA BELT — Late though warm weather may be in its arrival this spring, the folks who live in the Delta county area can consider themselves fortunate.

Snow drifts are still high along many roads in the counties bordering Lake Superior, while boats that passed through the Soo locks have been turned back by heavy ice in Whitefish Bay.

Here, at least, it rains instead of snows; shipping moves in and out of the harbor on schedule; and you can find a lawn to rake if you are so inclined.

Escanaba is again the first port open to navigation on the Upper Lakes and commercial fishermen have been able to make trial runs on Green Bay.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Stockholm — The Germans have abandoned Roros, which they seized for a few hours in a dazzling exhibition of lightning war yesterday, and are digging in at Tolga, 15 miles to the south in the Osterdalen valley, the Swedish newspaper correspondents reported.

Chicago (P)—Five ton of smelt from Escanaba, Mich., will be on the luncheon menu tomorrow for 25,000 pupils in Chicago public schools.

Escanaba—H. E. Breummer, superintendent of the Michigan state tourist lodge at Menominee, addressed the Escanaba junior high school students. He described tourist attraction in the Upper Peninsula.

Manistique — T. F. Mulrooney of the Manistique Pulp & Paper company was elected president of the Manistique Chamber of Commerce.

Gladstone—Coach Eldon R. Keil, head of the Gladstone high school athletic department, will be honored at a testimonial banquet Sunday afternoon at the basement of All Saints church.

Washington—Sweeping increases in the government's compensation policy for World War veterans were voted today by the house.

Rome — Benito Mussolini, dictator of Italy, today saw his 19 year old daughter, Edda, become the bride of Count Galeazzo Ciano.

Escanaba—The navigation season was officially opened yesterday with the arrival of the "Agassiz" ore carrier at the No. 6 C&NW ore dock here.

Escanaba — The state highway department hopes to complete the paving of U.S. 2 from Ford River to the Narenta crossing this summer.

Manistique—Work on the expansion program outlined by the Brown Dimension company was commenced this week.

Gladstone—There will be slight change in the teaching staff of the Gladstone high school next year, Supt. A. R. Watson has announced.

Some Defense Funds Wasted

Air National Guard Is Criticized

By MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON — That old expression about a new broom sweeping clean could apply to the changes that are taking place in the defense establishment, Thomas K. Finletter is taking over as secretary of the air force and Stuart Symington as head of the National Security Resources board.

CHILDS

It is hardly a secret that, in his last months as secretary for air, Symington was in sharp disagreement on several issues with Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson. It is also hardly a secret that certain decisions taken at the top have had the result of giving the nation less air defense for each dollar spent than could be obtained if some of the political fat was heroically cut away.

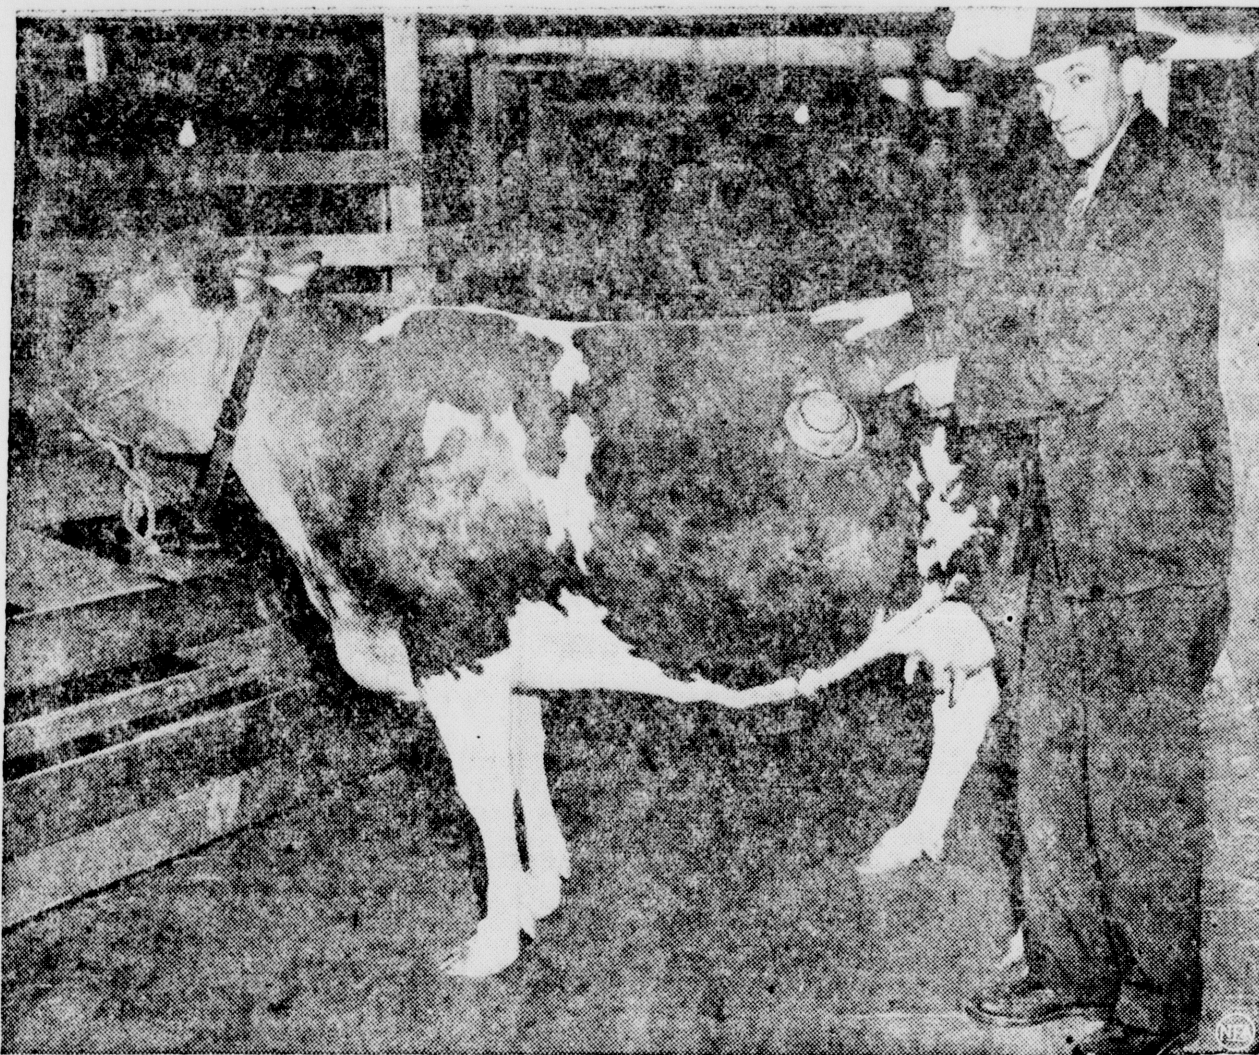

Some time ago in this space it was stated that defense funds spent on the Air National Guard were to a considerable degree wasted. The amount being spent this year is $114,690,000 and the figure asked for 1951 is $103,935,000.

Officers Protest
A number of Air National Guard officers have written to me to challenge this statement. They protest that they are honestly trying to contribute to America's defense, and they undoubtedly are. They want to know on what basis of expert knowledge I passed this judgment.

I was not, of course, trying to give any personal judgment because I do not have the expert knowledge to make such a judgment. I was reporting the opinions of high-ranking officers of all three services. Air force officers might, as the National Guard maintains, be jealous of the independence of the Air National Guard. But the same opinion is expressed in private by men in the other services with expert knowledge of the nation's overall defense needs and how they are being met. The Gray board after a careful and exhaustive investigation recommended against independence for the Air National Guard.

Quite apart from the money being spent, this is a serious matter. For the defense of America the air force in being includes the air groups of the Air National Guard. If those groups do not measure up to standards of efficiency and performance, then our defenses are weaker than we think.

More Holiday Occasions
In all probability some of the groups do measure up to the standards rigidly enforced in the air force. But a further check makes

SCIENTISTS GET BOSSIE'S INSIDE STORY—Dairy husbandry experts at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, have installed plastic "windows" in the sides of five cows to study stages of a cow's digestion. Each window has a threaded cap which is easily removed for taking samples of Bossie's food in various stages of digestion. A delicate operation is required for inserting windows.

it pretty clear that many do not; that some groups are hardly more than holiday occasions for World War II airmen who like to fly.

In Virginia charges were brought against Major L. H. Waters Jr., commanding officer of the Virginia Air National Guard. He was accused by officers in his command of a whole series of irregularities concerning the use of guard planes and government property. Waters' response was to dismiss the complaining officers and he was promptly cleared by the adjutant-general of the state.

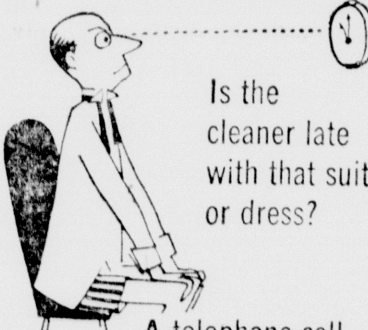

At the same time civil aeronautics administrator D. W. Rentzel issued a complaint against Waters charging 24 separate violations of civil air regulations. Most of the violations charged occurred while Waters was leading an aerobatic team flying P-47s in a series of air shows at county fairs around the state. Waters was pilot of the National Guard plane that former Governor William M. Tucker used during his term of office.

Numerous instances have been reported of the way in which Governors use National Guard planes for their private and personal use.

When Governor James (Kissing Jim) Folsom of Alabama was paying court to one of the daughters of Governor Earl Warren he flew to California and back in a guard plane. The cost of flying that plane is estimated conservatively at $120 an hour.

Other Governors are more scrupulous. They try to avoid use of guard planes for other than official purposes that might be justified.

The National Guard bureau is hardly in a position to rebuke Governors who have air guard funds spent on putting plush interiors in the planes they have for their personal use. Maj. Gen. Kenneth F. Cramer, chief of the National Guard Bureau, had $68,-

Pheasant Output Brings Trees To Treeless State

By Science Service

WASHINGTON—The ring-necked pheasant, prince among U. S. game-birds, is bringing more and more trees to one of the nation's most treeless states, South Dakota.

A top project under the Pittman-Robertson Federal aid to wild-life bill passed by Congress will be the planting of more shelterbelts in South Dakota to help the state's huge annual crop of pheasants through severe winter storms, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service said.

State conservationists hope eventually to plant four cover areas in each township. Properly spaced, they will mean pheasants and other wildlife will always be within a mile and a half of a wooded refuge. Asparagus and white clover will be planted as well as trees to give the birds something to eat when grain fields are buried in snow.

Millions Paid GM Officials In '49 Bonuses

NEW YORK — (AP) — General Motors Corp. is paying 61 officers or directors 1949 bonus awards totalling $6,035,248 in cash plus 24,338 shares of the company's common stock.

Top remuneration for 1949, including salary, director fees and bonus, is $586,100 for Charles E. Wilson, president. The bonus is payable in five annual installments. At present federal income tax rates he would retain only a little more than $150,000 of this.

Taxes 73 Percent
Wilson, head of the giant automotive concern, started his career some 40 years ago with Westinghouse Electric and 17 cents an hour.

From General Motors last year, he received $201,100 in salary and director fees. His bonus award, $308,021 in cash and 1,243 shares of stock, represents an "award value" of $385,000.

On the total, Wilson would pay personal federal income taxes, at current rates, of some 73 per cent.

Three executive vice presidents follow Wilson in aggregate remuneration including bonus. They are: Albert Bradley, $511,225; Harlow H. Curtice, $496,100, and Marvin E. Coyle, $496,000. The tax rate on these amounts is close to 72 per cent.

The figures on bonus awards to individuals were disclosed in the corporation's proxy statement mailed to more than 400,000 stockholders with notice of the annual meeting May 19 at Wilmington, Del.

They reflect the record volume of business done by General Motors last year. The corporation reported net sales of $5,700,000, 000 and net income of $656,434, 232, and had a record payroll of $1,440,690,450 for its 401,326 employees.

Stock Shares $61.93
The bonus awards to the group of 61 persons who were directors or officers of the corporation during 1949 were included in a previously announced aggregate of 4,204 awards which include $39,739,717 in cash and 163,859 shares of common stock. These are distributed, in general, to employees earning $650 a month or more.

The stock shares provided in the bonus were valued for award purposes at $61.93 a share, which the proxy statement said was the average cost of all unawarded common stock in the special treasury stock account designated for bonus purposes at Dec. 31, 1949.

Aside from the bonus awards, the group of 61 directors or officers received a total of $3,611, 954 in salaries and directors' fees.

Aggregate remuneration for 1949 including bonus awards for some of the other corporation officers, before taxes, were: Vice Presidents Frederic G. Donner, $411,000; Louis C. Goad, $411, 100; Ronald K. Evans, $411,000, and Francis L. Burke, $311,000. The total for John J. Schumann Jr., president of the Subsidiary General Motors acceptance Corporation, was $227,450.

His Punch is His Signature

Was on the train up to Central City the other day and when the conductor came around, I asked him why their ticket punches make such odd-shaped holes in the ticket.

"Every conductor in the country has a different design for his punch," he tells me. "Some even show up a fellow's preferences. Now take mine. The hole it makes looks like a beer goblet."

Sure enough! Then he went on to say that the punch is just like the conductor's signature. Makes it easy to trace tickets... to check up if something happens.

From where I sit, even though your ticket is punched differently from mine, it still gets you where you're going. Just like people with their opinions. You might like coffee, another person, tea—and I'll settle for a temperate glass of beer. But what does it matter, so long as we respect the right of the other to have tastes and opinions? We're all trying to go in the same direction — towards a friendlier, more pleasant world for all of us.

HYBRID CORN. Corn seeds have been "tailored" to fit their environment.

by CHARLES F. BRANNAN
U.S. Secretary of Agriculture

The United States has been witnessing a revolution in agricultural production. Here are a few evidences of it:

New production records have been set in six of the last ten years. Last year farmers equalled their all-time record of 1948; output was about 40 percent greater than the pre-war average.

Compared with 20 years ago, cropland acreage is about the same while the number of farm workers is down 15 percent, and yields of major crops are up 40 percent.

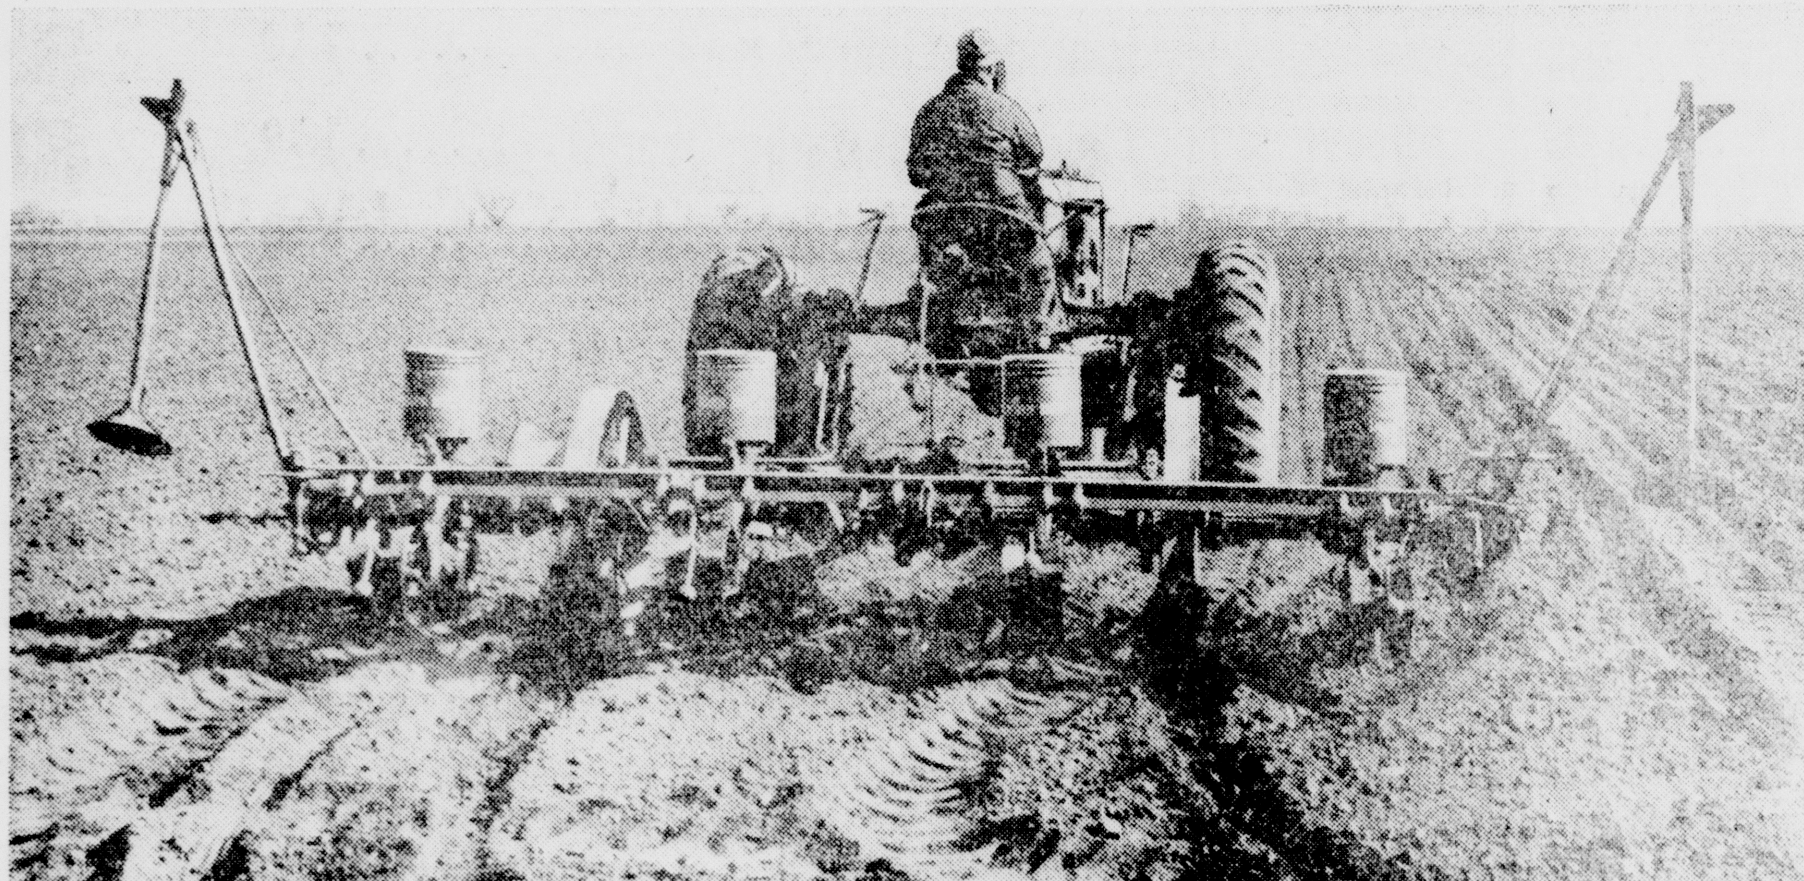

Humans now have the products from 65 million acres which supplied horse and mule feed not so long ago. In effect, this is the same as bigger production.

What brought about the revolution? Many things, including wartime prices and patriotism, soil conservation work, hybrid corn, new pest control chemicals, machines that help overcome bad weather by getting farm work done at the right time and rural electrification.

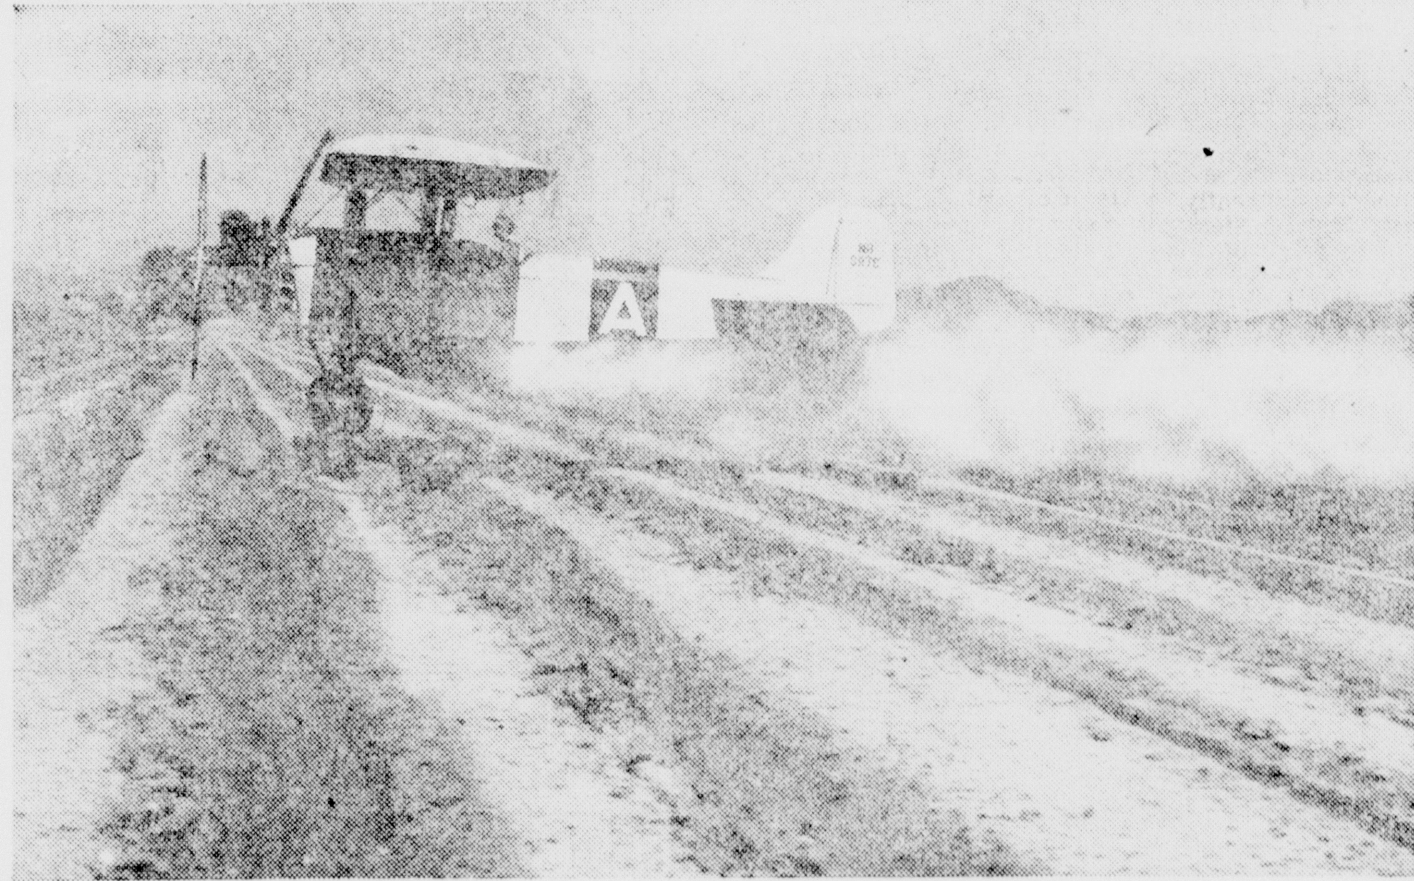

FARM "REVOLUTION"

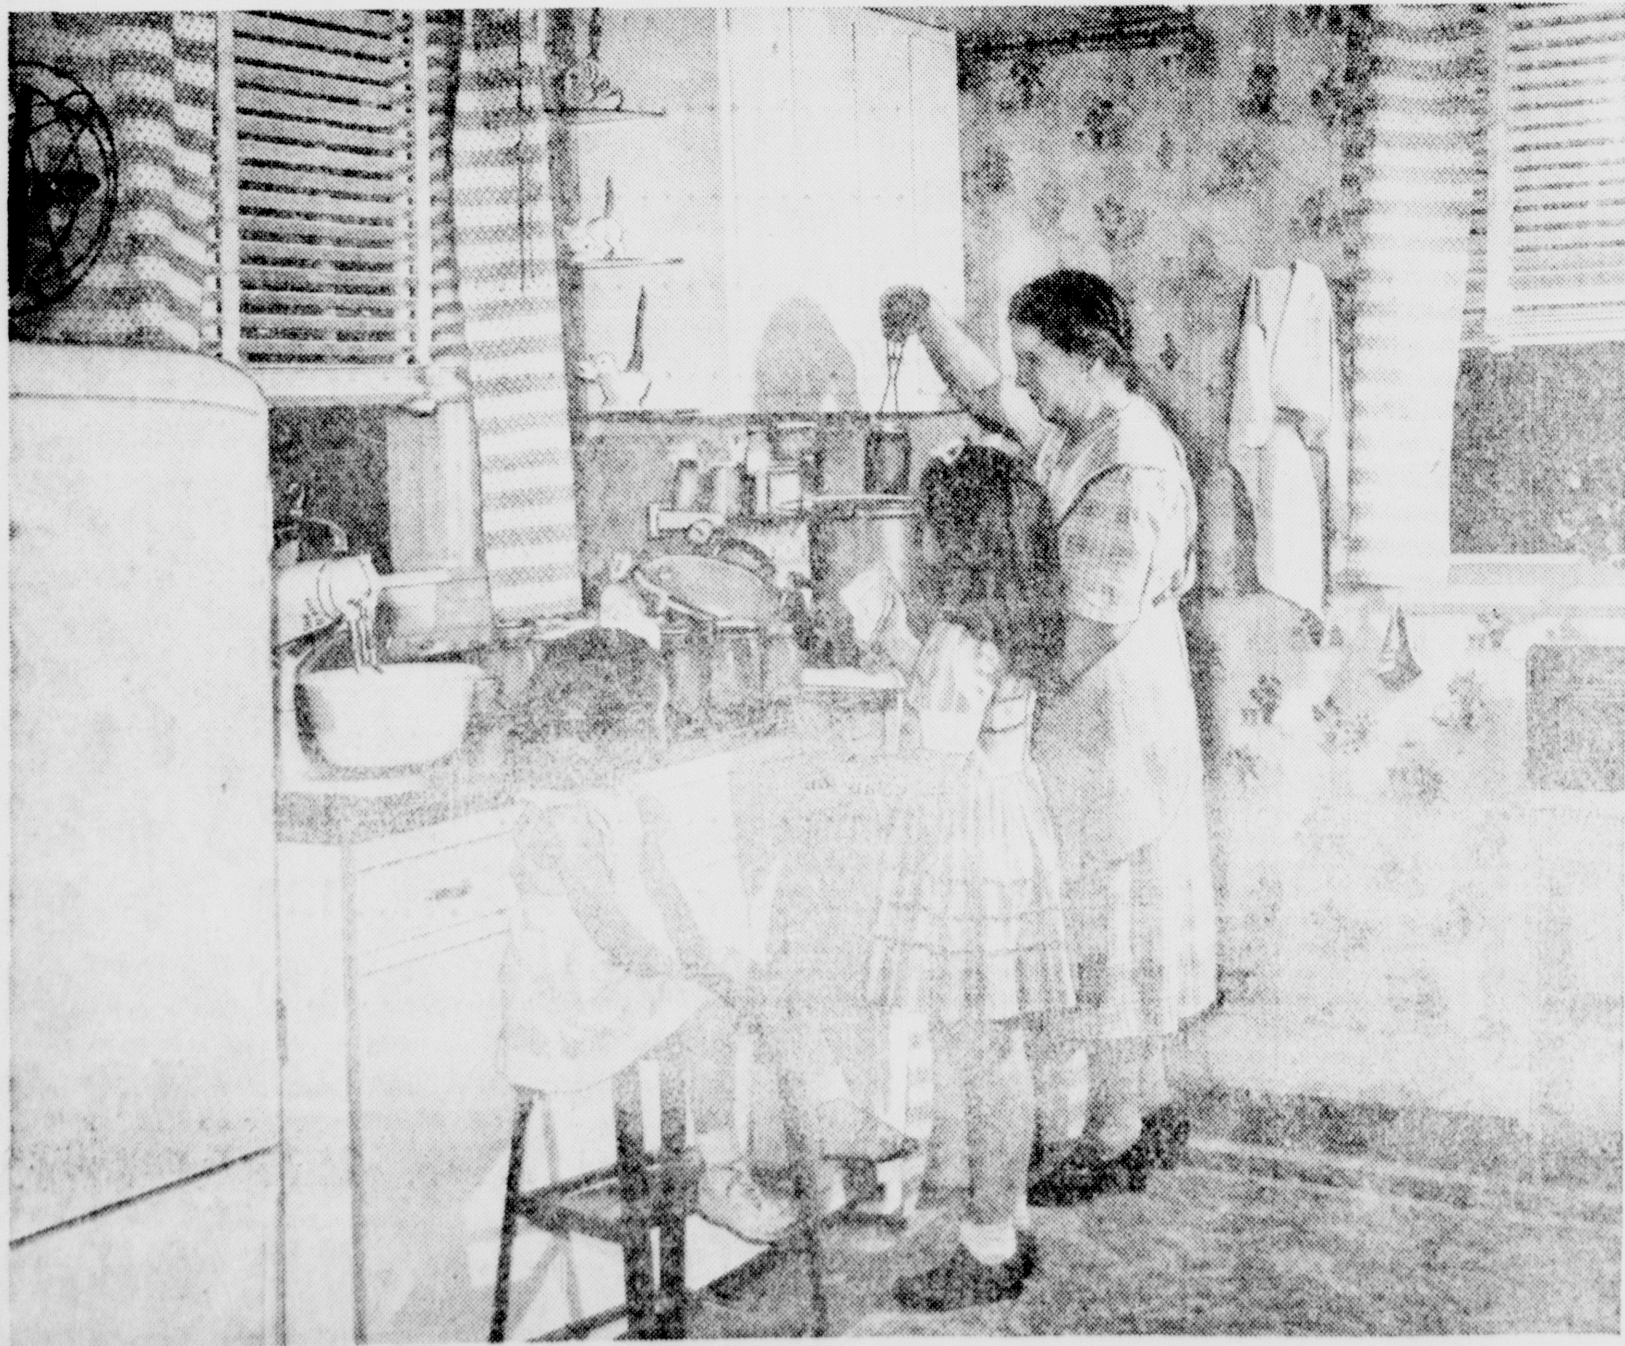

SOIL CONSERVATION. Terraces and strip cropping on farm help to hold back rain waters and keep soil from blowing and washing away.

FARM MACHINERY has replaced horses and mules. Here, a Jasper County, Ia., farmer plants corn with 4-row check-row planter.

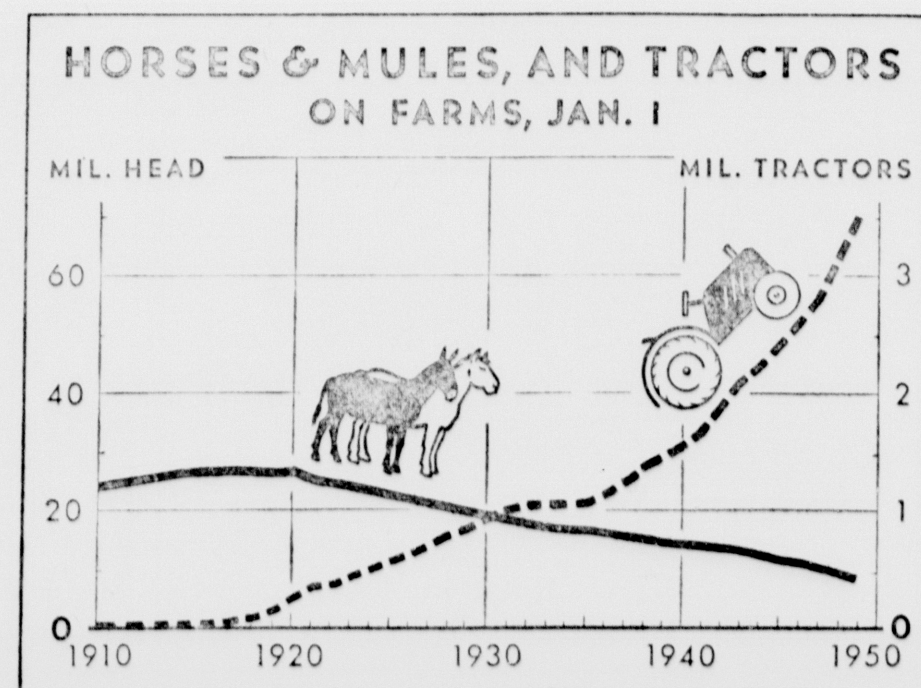

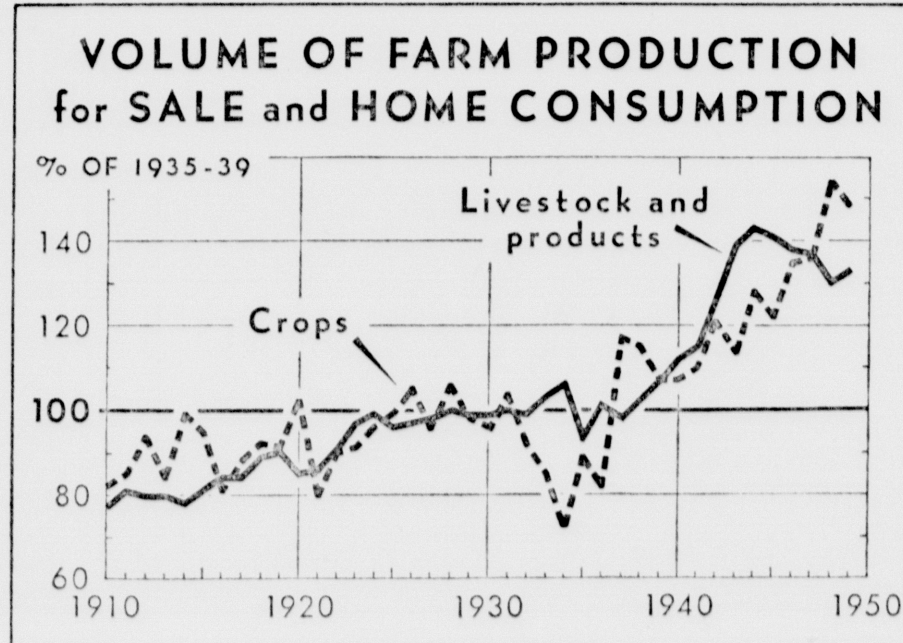

NEW INSECTICIDES, notably applied by plane, have had a lot to do with increasing farm efficiency.

MODERN FARM. Electricity is performing many chores as well as making life easier for the farm wife. The number of electrified farm homes increased from virtually zero in 1900 to more than 80 percent of all farm homes in 1950.

RESEARCH. "Waxy" corn, with special type of starch suitable for food, industrial uses, is grown at U.S. research center.

RECEIVE SAFETY AWARDS—N. J. LaChapelle received the Railway Express agency's special lapel medal and A. W. Dupey was awarded the company's safety merit award at a ceremony here recently. The awards, to LaChapelle for 15 years consecutive service without an accident and to Dupey for 13 years without an accident, were presented by Phil Bruce, traffic officer of the Escanaba police force. Dupey failed to win the coveted lapel medal, with a precious stone superimposed, as he was out of the vehicle division of the company for a number of years. G. M. Way, agent here, said that last year 12,633 Railway express drivers received safety awards for accident-free driving for one to 14 years. G. E. Loudonback, of Green Bay, district sales representative, was here for the ceremony. Left to right above are Way, Loudonback, LaChapelle, Dupey and Phil Bruce. The awards were signed by A. L. Hammell of New York city, president of the express agency.

VATICAN CITY — (P) — A French nun famed for her charitable works is the newest saint of the Roman Catholic church.

Production Increased On Wonder Hormone To Relieve Arthritis

CHICAGO.—(P)—ACTH is being produced 30 times over last year's production, says Armour & Co., and the wonder hormone may be supplied to "a large number of hospitals" within a few months.
The sharply increased production of the drug that has brought dramatic relief, at least temporarily, to sufferers of rheumatoid arthritis, leukemia and other baffling diseases, also has resulted in a price cut.
The new drug, however, is so scarce, that its use has been limited to experiments on selected patients in clinics.
Armour, one of the nation's biggest meat packers, is the world's largest producer of the hormone. It obtains the substance from the pituitary glands of hogs.
F. W. Specht, Armour president, disclosed in a speech to the Chicago Cancer Research foundation that production is 30 times that of a year ago. He did not give any figures but said the current output may be tripled by late summer.
"We still are far from being able to supply ACTH in unlimited quantities to every physician and hospital," Specht said.
He said the number of clinics using ACTH has increased from 40 to 100 in a year "and other clinics are rapidly being added to the list."
He said the food and drug administration has not yet approved the hormone for general sale and added: "We hope within a few months, however, to establish a basis whereby ACTH may be obtained in a large number of hospitals for the most critical cases."
Specht said Armour is cutting its present price of $210 a gram to about $100 effective May 1.
Wilson and company, another big packing firm, began producing ACTH recently and an eastern firm is obtaining the substance from horse glands.

Horses, Mules
Are Declining

Seven Million Less
In U. S. Since 1940

Seven million more farm horses and mules have gone the way of the glue factory in the U. S. since 1940. The present head count of these animals now stands at only 7 1/2 million, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics crop reporting service. It was 26 million in 1920, 19 million in 1930, and 14 1/2 million in 1940.

J. D. Shaffer, agricultural economist at Michigan State College, says that the reduction in numbers in itself is not the significant part of this change. The transition has played a big part in shaping our production and food supply picture.

This one technological advance alone—substituting gasoline burners for hay burners as field power units—has released sufficient

I TRIED O-JIB-WA
AFTER READING OF WONDERS IT DID FOR OTHER SUFFERERS

After 8 years of constant suffering it seems really wonderful to be free of the pains and stiffness of Rheumatism and Arthritis, says Mrs. Roy Daniels Sr., a resident of suburban Detroit.

Regardless of what you have tried without results, it is our honest opinion that you owe it to yourself to give O-JIB-WA BITTERS a chance to help you. The testimony of Mrs. Roy Daniels Sr., of 14775 Ola Street, Romulus, is true and was given freely without pay in gratitude for the wonderful results that she has received.

Suffered for 8 Long Years
"It is hard for me to express in words the appreciation I have for O-JIB-WA BITTERS. I suffered almost continually for 8 years with the pains and stiffness of rheumatism and arthritis, before using this wonderful medicine. I just had to write and tell you what wonders O-JIB-WA has done for me. I had arthritis in my arms for 8 years and then it went to my legs. It was so bad, that it even hurt me to sit in a chair and it was hard to get started to walk. I had to force myself to keep going, as I was unable to do my own housework, so lived with my daughter."

ATTENTION PLEASE
We the makers of O-JIB-WA BITTERS, wish to thank Mrs. Daniels and the many others who have received such public acclaim and enthusiastic recommendation by its users that O-JIB-WA BITTERS. The reason for this is because O-JIB-WA is not just a plain medicine as are so many tablets on the market today, consisting primarily of aspirin and salicylates. Anybody Grave
Cricket Family?

By ALBERT S. FULFING
(FOOT HAL BOYLE)

RAHWAY, N. J.—(AP)—Anybody want any crickets?

I've got a lot of them to give away. They're lively and in good voice. They hop, skip and jump happily. You'll have to come and get them, though.

Normally, I'm not in the cricket business, but now I'm in it wholesale.

It started four months ago when I bought a new house. We wanted some semi-rural life. We got it.

A few weeks after we moved in, I heard the chirp of a cricket. I was intrigued. Sure enough, I discovered one in the kitchen.

"Hey, look," I shouted to the better half, "we've got a cricket." The distaff side peered happily at the insect on the newly waxed floor.

Means Good Luck
"That's wonderful," she chortled. "A cricket in the house is good luck."

I was somewhat doubtful about this, but have learned over a period of years not to question little foibles.

Later I saw the cricket, but it looked smaller. I spent some time observing the situation, and found there were two crickets. This I duly reported to the better half.

"It's bad luck to kill a cricket in the house," she intoned solemnly.

Well, life is tough enough at best, so am I to look for bad luck, I reasoned.

Time went on.

The lone cricket chirp swelled to a crescendo.

About a week ago, Mary said in a small voice, "those crickets are getting me nervous. Couldn't you do something about them?"

"But it's bad luck—" I began.

"Get rid of them," she answered firmly.

Did you ever try to get rid of crickets? I never did. Neither, it seems, did any of my friends.

"Crickets?" They'd exclaim. "Nope, never had them." So I talked to Pete, who comes from upstate New York. Sure, there were crickets in the family house there. Get rid of them? No, they never bothered anybody. Then I asked Joe. "Keep the door shut," he said absently. "But that'll keep them in," I protested.

"Yes, but it'll keep others out." Poison Bait Prescribed

So I kept the door shut. But still the volume of sound grew. Then I contacted the Rutgers university college of agriculture. Sure, they had a good formula. It would be in the next mail.

Meanwhile, I walked into the office with a long cut on one cheek.

"What happened?" inquired a colleague suspiciously.

"Well," I said, "I was shaving this morning. My cocker spaniel,

Nicky, started to chase a cricket and went between my legs just as I was drawing the razor—"

The agriculture college material arrived. It prescribed either a spray or a poison bait mixture. My wife was not too happy about the poison bait. Maybe the family dog would get some.

So I got the spray. Last night I tried it. Some of it spilled on the floor. While I was at another section of the kitchen, I glanced back. A cricket walked through the spilled spray, hesitated, then continued blithely on and finally leaped behind the refrigerator.

I kept on with the spraying, but my heart wasn't in it.

I'll keep on with the spraying, for I'm an optimist.

But I'm sure if you want some crickets, they'll be here when you come.

Horses, Mules Are Declining

Seven Million Less In U. S. Since 1940

Seven million more farm horses and mules have gone the way of the glue factory in the U. S. since 1940. The present head count of these animals now stands at only 7½ million, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics crop reporting service. It was 26 million in 1920, 19 million in 1930, and 14½ million in 1940.

J. D. Shaffer, agricultural economist at Michigan State College, says that the reduction in numbers in itself is not the significant part of this change. The transition has played a big part in shaping our production and food supply picture.

This one technological advance alone—substituting gasoline burners for hay burners as field power units—has released sufficient

I TRIED O-JIB-WA AFTER READING OF WONDERS IT DID FOR OTHER SUFFERERS

After 8 years of constant suffering it seems really wonderful to be free of the pains and stiffness of Rheumatism and Arthritis, says Mrs. Roy Daniels Sr., a resident of suburban Detroit.

Regardless of what you have tried without results, it is our honest opinion that you owe it to yourself to give O-JIB-WA BITTERS a chance to help you. The testimonial of Mrs. Roy Daniels Sr., of 14775 Ola Street, Romulus, is true and was given freely without pay in gratitude for the wonderful results that she has received.

Suffered for 8 Long Years

"It is hard for me to express in words the appreciation I have for O-JIB-WA BITTERS. I suffered almost continually for 8 years with the pains and stiffness of rheumatism and arthritis, using this wonderful medicine. I just had to write and tell you what wonders O-JIB-WA has done for me. I had arthritis in my arms for 8 years and then it went to my legs. It was so bad, that it even hurt me to sit in a chair and it was hard to get started to walk. I had to force myself to keep going, as I was unable to do my own housework, so I lived with my daughter."

Recommended to Many

"I read in the paper what O-JIB-WA BITTERS had done for others, so I thought I would try it. After using one bottle, all my pains left me and I also had a lot more pep and energy. O-JIB-WA is really wonderful. I have recommended it to many people, especially whenever I heard any person mention arthritis and they all seem to get results. It is wonderful."

ATTENTION PLEASE

We the makers of O-JIB-WA BITTERS, wish to thank Mrs. Daniels and the many other users of our product, who so graciously endorse O-JIB-WA without reward because of what it has done for them.

No medicine being sold today for rheumatism and arthritis has received such public acclaim and enthusiastic recommendation by its users than O-JIB-WA BITTERS. The reason for this is because O-JIB-WA is not just a plain medicine as are so many tablets on the market today, containing primarily aspirin and salicylates. O-JIB-WA works through the blood stream and loosens stiff joints to relieve the distressing pain, even when the stiffness has become deep seated. O-JIB-WA BITTERS has a tonic effect on the stomach, liver, kidneys and nervous system. O-JIB-WA is quick in action and in most cases aids in correcting the cause of these horrible agonies. Regardless of what you have tried without results, you owe it to yourself to try this great all-herb medicine. Don't give up hope. Don't put off. Give O-JIB-WA BITTERS a chance to help you. Anybody Crave Cricket Family?

By ALBERT S. FULLING (FOOT HAL BOYLE)
RAHWAY, N. J.—(AP)—Anybody want any crickets?

I've got a lot of them to give away. They're lively and in good voice. They hop, skip and jump happily. You'll have to come and get them, though.

Normally, I'm not in the cricket business, but now I'm in it wholesale.

It started four months ago when I bought a new house. We wanted some semi-rural life. We got it.

A few weeks after we moved in, I heard the chirp of a cricket. I was intrigued. Sure enough, I discovered one in the kitchen.

"Hey, look," I shouted to the better half, "we've got a cricket." The distaff side peered happily at the insect on the newly waxed floor.

Means Good Luck
"That's wonderful," she chortled. "A cricket in the house is good luck."

I was somewhat doubtful about this, but have learned over a period of years not to question little foibles.

Later I saw the cricket, but it looked smaller. I spent some time observing the situation, and found there were two crickets. This I duly reported to the better half.

"It's bad luck to kill a cricket in the house," she intoned solemnly.

Well, life is tough enough at best, so am I to look for bad luck, I reasoned.

Time went on. The lone cricket chirp swelled to a crescendo.

About a week ago, Mary said in a small voice, "those crickets are getting me nervous. Couldn't you do something about them?"

"But it's bad luck—" I began. "Get rid of them," she answered firmly.

Did you ever try to get rid of crickets? I never did. Neither, it seems, did any of my friends.

"Crickets?" They'd exclaim. "Nope, never had them."

So I talked to Pete, who comes from upstate New York. Sure,

There were crickets in the family house there. Get rid of them? No, they never bothered anybody.

Then I asked Joe. "Keep the door shut," he said absently.

"But that'll keep them in," I protested.

"Yes, but it'll keep others out." Poison Bait Prescribed

So I kept the door shut. But still the volume of sound grew.

Then I contacted the Rutgers university college of agriculture. Sure, they had a good formula. It would be in the next mail.

Meanwhile, I walked into the office with a long cut on one cheek.

"What happened?" inquired a colleague suspiciously.

"Well," I said, "I was shaving this morning. My cocker spaniel,

Nicky, started to chase a cricket and went between my legs just as I was drawing the razor—"

The agriculture college material arrived. It prescribed either a spray or a poison bait mixture.

My wife was not too happy about the poison bait. Maybe the family dog would get some.

So I got the spray. Last night I tried it. Some of it spilled on the floor. While I was at another section of the kitchen, I glanced back. A cricket walked through the spilled spray, hesitated, then continued blithely on and finally leaped behind the refrigerator.

I kept on with the spraying, but my heart wasn't in it.

I'll keep on with the spraying, for I'm an optimist.

But I'm sure if you want some crickets, they'll be here when you come.

Modern $75,000 Building Will Replace 'Green School'

THE NEW AND THE OLD — Above is a view of the modern rural school building erected in Mueller township at a cost of $75,000. Formal opening of the new educational plant will be held in the near future. Below are the two frame buildings which have been used for many years as schools for the children of the so-called "Green School District."

Residents of Mueller township, who take pardonable pride in their brand new $75,000 school, plan some time in the very near future to hold open house.

The school is of brick and steel construction, floors are of asphalt tile over cement and the building is heated by an oil furnace. There are three classrooms, each equipped with built-in wardrobes, teachers' closet and book cabinets. Also included among the strictly modern appointments are a hot lunch dining room and kitchen with built-in cupboards, equipped with electric range, refrigerator and deep freeze. There is hot and cold running water in every room. In addition to the three classrooms are an office, book storage room, rest rooms, janitor's room and a large hall.

The two class rooms on the east side of the building have folding doors between them. There open to an auditorium with the stage at the south end of the building. The room thus created will be large enough to seat 200 people.

Vote $75,000 Bonds
Construction of this splendid new improvement was made possible when, on June 29, 1949, electors in the district voted to raise a $75,000 bond issue to be met by an annual levy for ten years of 17 mills. The issue passed by a vote of 49 to 20.

Members of the present Mueller township school board are: Harry Anderson, president; Virginia Willour, secretary; Charles Blanchard, treasurer; Leon Carroll and Elsie Anderson, trustees. On the teaching staff are: Mrs. Kathryn Beal, principal; Mrs. Georgia Hetzel and Mrs. Marion Osterhaut. Bus drivers are Vernon Lee and Vernon Lupton. Mrs. Olga Freeland prepares the hot lunches served daily while the school is in session. She is assisted by Mrs. Francis Van Orman.

"Green School" a Pseudonym
Officially—as in the past—this institution will bear the name of Mueller Township Public Schools, but more likely than not, coming generations will continue to know it as "The Green School District." The "Green School District" was not named from any person named Green. It became known as such because, the chief predecessor to the present building was painted a bright green. It was, for years, the only building to break the monotony of forests in many miles along the highway and people seeking directions were told that the resident they sought lived so many miles east or west of "the green schoolhouse."

This little old building, like most rural school structures erected at the turn of the century, was primitive, to say the least; but many substantial citizens still venerate it as the place where they learned the three R's.

Organized in 1905
Mueller township was organized in 1905. Some of the early school board members were Walter Scott, the late John Hunter, Wes Emmons, and Pete Anderson. W. T. S. Cornell was school commissioner at that time. The Green school was first put to use in 1911. Miss Blanche Ford, who is now Mrs. Ed Van Orman, was the first teacher. There was an enrollment at the time of eleven children.

Teacher boarded at the Peter Anderson home, about half a mile from the school and walked to and from her daily assignment. Children also walked to and from school in those days—some walking a considerable distance.

Other early teachers were Miss Kathryn MacGregor, now Mrs. Glen Beal; Mrs. Olga Freeland, Miss Edith Nelson and Lillian Anderson Curran.

At this time there were three Green school buildings located in the township—one at Blaney, one at Seul Choix and the one at the present site. They were all built alike. The building at Blaney is now the playhouse there. The one at Seul Choix was torn down several years ago. In later years there was also a school located at Calpar, where the White Marble Lime Company operated a quarry.

In 1927, when Blaney was made into a park, the school there was discontinued and E. J. LaPorte transported the children to the Green school.

When Calpar was discontinued after the Inland Lime & Stone Company started the new quarry near Hunts Spur, the school there was moved to a location beside the Green school. All the children of the township, except those at Seul Choix were then transported to these buildings.

The building from Calpar has a history which goes back beyond the time that it was used as an institution of learning. Originally built in 1890, for a pool hall and barber shop at Blaney it was later moved to Calpar and then, in 1935, to its present location.

Bus Service Started in 1929
In 1929, two school buses were purchased by the township board then composed of William F. Baurer, Richard F. Freeland, Peter Olson, John Goudreau and the late John Hunter. Then the school at Seul Choix was discontinued.

William L. Bragg, Former Manistique Resident, Dies

William L. Bragg, 81, a former resident of Manistique died Friday at his home at Grass Valley, Calif.

Mr. Bragg lived here when lumbering was the chief industry in this area and, in the employ of the Chicago Lumber Company, operated as lumber camp foreman and logging boss in the spring drives. When the logging industry dwindled here, he moved to Kendall, Montana, where he and a number of associates operated a gold mine. Retiring about 16 years ago, he moved to California. During his residence in Manistique, he was active in the affairs of the local Masonic lodge and still maintained his affiliation here at the time of his death.

Mr. Bragg was married to Besie Smith (a sister of C. L. Smith) who with three daughters and a son, survive.

Funeral services, with Masonic rites at the graveside, were conducted at Grass Valley, Monday afternoon.

Child Of Former Residents Here Dies In Detroit

Funeral services were held Tuesday in Rockwood for Sandra Lynn, five and one-half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith who died Thursday afternoon in Detroit after an extended illness.

The child is survived by its parents, its grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baker, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, of Manistique; and great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lampey, of Garden.

The child's mother is the former Milicent Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baker left Sunday for Rockwood to attend the services.

The name of Viet Nam, part of Indochina, means "distant south." Phrygia was an ancient kingdom in Asia Minor.

and all of the children in the township were transported to the Green school corner. Teachers at that time were Mrs. Oliver McCloy who now lives in St. Ignace and Miss Agnes Goudreau of Seul Choix.

The old schools will either be sold or torn down. The new building will not only serve as a place for imparting elementary education to the children of the community, but with its additional facilities for community gatherings, is destined to play an important part in the social life of the community.

Amateurs Put On Show To Packed House On Monday

Amateur entertainers had their inning at the Manistique High school auditorium Monday where about twenty of them participated in a strictly home talent contest staged by the Manistique Lions Club.

The numbers varied and the winners were determined by the recordings of an applause meter. First place went to winsome little Marietta Binder who put both personality and narrative in her singing of "Here Comes Peter Cottontail."

Ernest Pelon put novelty into his rendition of a cowboy love song to win second place.

William Jenero, one of the few adults to compete, vocalized to his own accompaniment on the guitar.

Close runners up were the Charron sisters—Lauretta, Jean and Helen—each in a musical specialty of their own.

Special numbers, not in the contest, were accordion duets by Miss Janet Dixer and Steve Borco and vocal solos by J. Earl Cousineau. Mr. Cousineau also did the "Major Bowes" honors. Miss Geraldine Gorsche accompanied most of the artists at the piano.

Members of the Lions Club, in a weird array of costume and makeup, added gaiety to the occasion.

A capacity house attended the show.

Masons Observed Past Masters' Night Saturday

Members of Lakeside Lodge F. & A. M. observed Past Masters' night at the Masonic Temple Saturday evening.

The activities began with a 6:30 dinner served by the ladies of the Order of Eastern Star and the remainder of the evening given over to work in third degree. Past Masters filled all the official assignments of the evening and degrees were conferred upon two candidates.

Past masters present and participating in the order of the years in which they served, were Arthur Drevdahl, Ian B. Winn, Roy Anderson, Stanley Carlyn, Harry Ahlstrom, William J. Cook, Arthur F. Hall, Al Lavigne, Keith Bundy, Mauritz Carlson, William A. Stephens, Carl Carlson, George Shaw, Ed V. Jackson, Ray Prime and L. Elwood Taylor.

At the close of the dinner, L. Elwood Taylor, the youngest past master in point of service, was presented with his past master's jewel. The presentation was made by George Stevenson, present worshipful master of the lodge.

At the meeting it was revealed that the local Masonic lodge received its charter in 1895, starting off with a membership of 13. It now has a membership well over two hundred.

Water In Big Spring At High Stage And Muddy

Kitch-iti-ki-pi, the Manistique area's No. 1 scenic attraction, is for the present, not presentable. It isn't advisable to make the trip there, anyway, because the road to the spring is submerged in a number of places and the entrance to the park is barricaded.

John I. Bellaire made a trip to the Big Spring the first of the week and finding the entrance barred, got out and walked, in ankle deep mud, to the spring. He found the spring, which normally maintains a constant level, so high, that the water level was almost even with the raft dock.

This surplus water is drainage from surrounding rivulets and for that reason water in the spring is far from clear. This state of affairs, Mr. Bellaire believes, will not last long.

Council Of Social Agencies Elects

At a dinner meeting of the Schoolcraft County Council of Social Agencies, held at the Denny private dining room Monday evening, Mrs. Walter Busch was elected president, succeeding Clayton Reid, who had held the position on a tentative basis. Judge Ralph Merwin was elected vice president and Everett Anderson, secretary.

The purpose of the organization, it is explained, is to coordinate the various social agencies in the county so that there may be no duplication of effort in the work they are doing. The members plan to meet once a month.

Dr. C. J. Poppen, head of the cancer research division of the state public health service was present and addressed the meeting.

City Briefs

Anthony Busch left Monday for a trip east. He will visit in New York City and Washington, D. C. before returning home.

Bob Dahms left Friday evening for Alaska where he will be employed.

Friends of a prospective bridegroom among the Madis of central Africa give him presents to help him pay for his bride.

Mechanical Tree Planting Demonstration To Be Held South Of Thompson

A mechanical tree planting demonstration has been arranged through the cooperation of the Mead corporation, the Michigan Department of Conservation, the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company, and the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State College. The weather permitting, the demonstration will take place Friday afternoon, April 28, about two miles south of Thompson.

Although planting will be going on most of Friday and Saturday, April 28 and 29, farmers, lumbermen, and foresters are urged to come Friday afternoon from one to three p. m.

Two different types of mechanical tree planters will be used to plant Norway pine, white and Norway spruce transplants stock. A wheel type tractor and a crawler type tractor, both sold locally, will be used to pull the tree planters.

Roy E. Skog, extension forester from Michigan State College, and several other foresters representing the conservation department, Mead Corporation, and the Chicago and North Western Railway will be present to discuss the operation of tree planters, type of planting stock to use, and the importance of making use of sub-marginal land to grow forest products.

The public is welcome to witness this demonstration.

Rev. J. Safran Resigns From Local Ministry

The Rev. John Safran, who for the past two years has been pastor of the First Methodist church of Manistique, has tendered his resignation on a tentative basis and he and his family are moving to Clifford, about fifty miles east of Flint.

Rev. Safran, in relinquishing his pastoral duties here, stated that his legal practice, for the time being, is of such an important nature and demands so much of his time, that he cannot devote as much time as he likes for his duties as minister. For the time being, until the district conference in Detroit on June 15, he will conduct services here on Sundays or make arrangements otherwise.

Rev. Safran states that he is not leaving the ministry and that as soon as the press of his legal business is over, he plans to devote his full time to church duties. For the present, he hopes to serve in the capacity of supply pastor in some special relationship with the church.

U. Professor To Discuss Economy Of Latin Countries

D. Maynard Phelps, professor of marketing in the school of business administration at the University of Michigan, will be the speaker at the fifth lecture series here this evening.

He will discuss Latin American economic problems with which he was familiar. At one time he was economic analyst at the American embassy in Caracas, Venezuela.

The lecture this week was given by Dr. B. Heidman.

Home Economics Groups Here To Show Projects

National Home Demonstration Week, April 30 to May 6, is a time when homemakers look backward and forward to evaluate their activities and to make plans for the coming year.

The slogan for the week is "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World."

In the Alger-Schoolcraft District, Home Economics membership grew from eight clubs with 57 members in 1945 to 27 clubs with 365 members in 1949.

In the past several years, the local Home Economics clubs have chosen to have instruction in Christmas toys, lampshades, leather glove making, foods, clothing, care of sewing machines and legal phases of homemaking. There have been a lot of special activities in crafts and hobbies.

Each year the local groups have participated in the Upper Peninsula Homemakers Camp at Chatham, and the State Home Demonstration Week at Michigan State College. Exhibits have been made at the Upper Peninsula State Fair at Escanaba demonstrating work that has been carried on during the year.

Escanaba Seeks Berth In Rainbow League

Loop Confers At Trenary

May Be Expanded To 12 Teams

TRENNARY—The Rainbow league will decide here Sunday whether to expand to a 12 team league this year.

An official organization meeting is scheduled here for Sunday afternoon and the question of expansion will be settled then.

At an earlier meeting in Gladstone, team managers and league officials unanimously agreed to accept applications of Wells and North Lake, bringing the eight-team league of last year to ten.

At that meeting, Bob Alexander of Marquette representing the Legion of that city sought entrance. However, since there was no other possibility to balance it, no official action was taken.

Since that time, however, there have been rumblings from Escanaba that a team from that city would be entered. Rev. Louis Cappel, assistant to St. Anne's, has been sounding out players and prospective backers and he has indicated he would attend Sunday's meeting here to submit Escanaba's bid.

Besides Wells and North Lake, the league is composed of teams from Gwynn, Trenary, Chatham, Munising, Marquette, Gladstone, Negaunee and Diron.

George Brown of Trenary is league president and George Mathison of Gladstone is secretary-treasurer.

Tri-County Meet Tonight At Bark River

BARK RIVER—Approval of the Tri-County baseball league schedule, which is set to open May 21, will be up for consideration at a final organization meeting of the league tonight at 8:30 at Tom Swift's.

There also will be a general discussion of plans for the season and rules interpretation.

The league will have eight teams this year, a drop of two from last year. Northway and Vulcan have pulled out to join another league.

Teams in the circuit are Powers, Hermansville, Bark River, Perronville, Stephenson, Wilson, Foster City and Felch.

Russ H. Simmons is president and Frank J. Rodman secretary-treasurer.

Colorado Grid Star Is Signed By Lions

DETROIT — (AP)—Thurman McGraw, six-foot five-inch 235-pound tackle from Colorado A. & M. college, has been signed by the Detroit Lions.

McGraw, 22, native of Paonia, Colo., won three football letters and was Mountain states conference wrestling champion last fall. He also holds titles in discus, shot and hammer track events.

Backers Meet Friday Night

More Players Show Interest Here

Escanaba will have a city team in the Rainbow league this year, if league officials approve.

Rev. Louis Cappel, assistant pastor at St. Ann's, said after another meeting last night that enough players had evinced interest in hardball to have a strong team.

Fr. Cappel said he and John Schwalbach would represent the team at the Rainbow league meeting in Trenary Sunday at which the Escanaba bid will be considered.

Meeting Friday

A meeting of several Escanaba businessmen and former baseball players will be held at St. Ann's school Friday night at 7:15 o'clock to discuss financial backing and other problems dealing with putting a good team on the field.

Several new prospective players attended the meeting last night, including Buckingham, Laquire, Marenger, Barron, Aiken, Berndt and Kennelly.

"We still have a lot of organization work to do but I'm encouraged at the enthusiastic response of the boys and potential backers," said Fr. Cappel.

Boys Must Choose

"There is the old bugaboo of softball but most of the boys present indicated they would be willing to give up softball if they were sure we would have an active baseball team.

"We feel there is a place in Escanaba for a good baseball team and we're going to have one the fans will be proud of. If we get into the Rainbow league, we'll make certain that we play the schedule through and not fold up for lack of players when the softball tournaments come along.

"The boys will either play baseball or softball. The two are not compatible."

Mary Agnes Wall Defeats Foe, 4-2

PINEHURST, N. C. — (AP)—When first round pairings were made for the 48th women's north and south invitation golf tournament, the locker room gentry agreed that wading through the upper bracket to Saturday's finals would be a king-sized chore.

The opinion was borne out today when two of the biggest names in the tournament, finalists a year ago, met in today's second round.

Defending champion Peggy Kirk of Findlay, Ohio, drew as her foe Grace Lenzyk of Hartford, Conn., whom Miss Kirk downed 5 and 4, in last year's finals. Miss Lenzyk, 1948 national champion, has won the last two medals and been runner-up the past two years.

Today's lower half matches sent Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., against Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich. Miss Wall yesterday defeated Mrs. James Parker of Wenham, Mass., 4 and 2.

Spilling The Dope

By Charlie Larson

Let's see, where were we? Oh, yes. We were just starting to send a bill for five hundred bucks to the Lions club.

Why? For that full page of free advertising on "rassling" that appeared, strangely enough, right alongside the D. S. P. (displaced sport page) yesterday that carried a story about tomorrow night's grunt and groan show at the junior high school gym.

We were as surprised as the next guy when it appeared. If Ken Gunderman weren't such a pugnacious character (psst, psst, he's a Lion himself!), we'd accuse him of having had something to do with it.

But we won't. We'll just collect our "cut" of the gate.

And, speaking of the "rassling" match, we've just been honored with a visit from Pedro (75 Votes) Pelletier.

Pedro, if our impression was correct, is a bit miffed. He thinks the Lions club ought to match him in a preliminary to that other chap with the rugged constitution, Jim London.

Pedro says he'll provide his own "tights."

If the ticket sales are slow, Pedro in "tights" might not be a bad investment.

He swears he is the slickest thing this side of a lamprey eel when he's in a ring. And he tells us he's well built, too.

Lions, you've heard the man. He's offering his services.

Relayed from Jim Ward . . . seems St. Stephens men's club has some rugged hitting "no-hitters" . . . in an informal softball game, Scott Runge had gone hitless until the last half of the ninth of the fourth game when he banged out a score-tying home run . . . not to be outdone, Don McLean, with a similar four-game, no-bingle record, hit for a single to score the winning run.

Eddie Mahanke of Bark River caused no little comment in tournament bowling here the other night . . . in one game he picked up 4-7-10 and 6-7-10 splits. . . then to make sure it was no fluke, he ended by picking up a 5-10 combination . . . Henry Boyle tells us Eddie, a former Chicago boy, is a "pretty swell" home run hitting catcher for the Bark River baseball team . . . apparently Eddie can catch and pitch with equal ease.

And up Nahma way, they're awaiting the outcome of a play-off match between Lew Bramer's Fur Farmers and Roland Bramer's Pine Grove bowlers . . . both ended the season with 66 points.

Rogovin Faces Browns; Groth Gets 3 Bingles

ST. LOUIS — (AP)—Rookie Pitcher Sam Rogovin had some fine pitching examples to copy today as he was scheduled to make his first appearance of the season for Detroit's Tigers, early leaders of the American league.

Going against the St. Louis Browns, Rogovin will do well to match the showing Virgil Trucks and Art Houtteman made last night as they combined efforts to give Detroit a 5-2 victory over the Browns.

Trucks, who now has two wins, pitched one-hit ball for nearly eight innings until a home run ball to pinch hitter Hank Arft ruined his shutout.

Then in the ninth he gave up another homer—one to Dick Kokos—and loaded the bases before Houtteman, also a two-game winner, came to the rescue. Art got the side out with no more damage.

Groth Gets Three

Trucks' previous superb hurling, marred only by a fourth inning single off the bat of Roy Sievers, almost overshadowed the batting feats of Tiger sophomore Johnny Groth.

Johnny got two singles and a home run his first three times up, giving him nine hits in a row and 13 straight times at bat without being retired.

But both streaks ended in the seventh when Dick Starr, Brownie pitched who went most of the distance, persuaded Groth to pop an easy fly to second baseman Owen Friend.

Groth now has 10 hits in 21 times at bat for a fine early hitting average of .476.

Vic Wertz and Gerry Priddy also copped a couple of batting honors in last night's game. Wertz got four hits for five times up, and Priddy's home run, his first for the Tigers, gave Detroit its first scores.

Johnny Lipon had walked to open the third and Priddy promptly drove him home with his solid four-bagger.

Slams Home Run

In the fourth, Catcher Joe Ginsberg doubled with one out and was tagged out when Trucks hit an infield grounder. Then Lipon singled, Priddy walked and George Kell and Wertz came through with singles. That gave Detroit a four-run lead, and Groth made it 5-0 with his homer in the fifth.

Trucks moved along easily until the eighth, scoring seven strikeouts in all. Then Arft's homer gave the Browns a score.

In the ninth Kokos greeted Virgil with another circuit cut. Sievers singled to left. Trucks got the next two batters out on easy pop flies, but Wertz misjudged Sherman Lollar's liner to right and it hit the wall for double.

Trucks was lifted then, and Houtteman came in and issued a pass to Less Moss, filling the bases. But Art then got Friend to pop out and the game was over.

Grand Rapids Team Tops Bowling Meet

ST. PAUL — (AP)—A new team, the Fantorium Majors of Grand Rapids, Mich., perched at the top of the team standings in the women's international bowling congress tournament today.

The Majors rolled 2,903—second 2,900 score in the 33-year history of the congress—to displace the Strauss-Frank team from San Antonio, which had led with 2,769. Record team total, 2,987, was rolled by the Kornitz of Milwaukee at Grand Rapids in 1947.

Sparking the team was Marion Ladewig with 141-232-245-618. She wound up her third game with eight straight strikes.

Mrs. Ladewig, national individual all-star match game champion, rolls today in the singles and doubles events.

Cage League Banquet Set For May 4

The first annual banquet of the Escanaba Basketball association will be held Thursday, May 4, at 7 p. m. at the Eagles hall.

Plans for next year's season will be laid, officers will be elected and a trophy will be awarded to the outstanding player of the season just passed.

The trophy, a perpetual one, will be awarded each year to the player who was voted outstanding during the season.

It is expected about 70 managers and players from the 16 teams in the two leagues will attend the dinner meeting. Rev. Stephen Schneider, O.F.M., will be toastmaster. Charles Larson, Daily Press sports editor, will speak briefly.

The season just closed was the first time the league has been financially successful.

The Shamrocks won the Class A league championship and the VFW team won the tournament. In class B, Haraischfegers won the league play and Mike's Bar copped the tournament.

Paul Vardigan is president of the league, Arnold Johnson is vice president and Bob Jensen is secretary-treasurer.

Reservations for the banquet may be made by calling Stan Abrahamson, phone 307-M, or Vardigan, 2737-W.

Oma Easily Licks Mitchell Of Detroit

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (AP)—Lee Oma of Newark, N. J., one of the top heavyweight contenders, has run his string of victories to 13.

He breezed to a one-sided decision over Vern Mitchell of Detroit last night in a dull 10-rounder before 4,229 fans in Memorial auditorium.

Oma, heavily favored, outweighted his younger opponent, 196 3/4, to 187 1/4.

Oma, unbeaten since September, 1948, has been promised a chance at the NBA heavyweight title this summer, assuming that champion Ezzard Charles meets and defeats Freddie Beshore of Harrisburg, Pa.

Georgia Tech Plans Memorial To "Alex"

ATLANTA — (AP)—Georgia Tech's famed W. A. Alexander was buried yesterday, and two hours later the school's athletic board authorized construction of a $2,000,000 physical training center as a memorial.

The board also named Bobby Dodd to succeed Alexander as athletic director. Dodd, former star quarterback at Tennessee, took over head coaching duties from Alexander after the 1944 season.

The memorial physical training center will seat 16,000, with 10,000 seats for basketball games.

Attention, Lions

Members of the Lions club are asked to be at the junior high school gym at 3:30 tomorrow to help set up the ring and bleachers for the Jim London wrestling show.

St. Joe Opens Diamond Sked Friday At Powers

St. Joseph high school baseball team will have at least a seven game schedule this spring, weather permitting, and it probably will be 10 games.

Announcement was made today by Tom St. Germain, St. Joe coach.

The team has been able to work out outside only two days this spring so far, confining most of the work to William Bonifas gymnasium. As a result, the players have been unable to do much but condition muscles.

St. Germain said his pitching hopes at this stage of the game are based on Fred Boddy, a freshman lefthander with a fast ball, good curve and fair control, and on Don Paulin, a junior who also is a southpaw.

Two Lettermen

Catching prospects include Wayne Papineau and Jim Ottensman the latter also a freshman.

The only two lettermen returning are outfielders Pete Kutches and Mike Kreis.

"It's hard to say now what we'll have but the boys have the speed and spirit," said St. Germain. "If they can hit and get on base, we ought to make things interesting for most of our opponents."

To Open Friday

Although things looked dubious today, the Trojans are scheduled to open their season Friday afternoon at Powers. But that, of course, will depend entirely on the weather and condition of the diamond.

Other games already scheduled are: May 6, at Rapid River; May 7 at 2:30, St. Paul of Negaunee here; May 13 at 2, Negaunee high school here; May 21 at 2, Loretto of the Soo here, and June 3, at Negaunee.

A game will be played with Escanaba high school but the date has not been set.

Games also may be scheduled with Bark River and return game with Rapid River is a possibility, St. Germain said.

25 Seek Braves Track Berths

GLADSTONE — Twenty-five Gladstone high school track hopefuls, including eight veterans, are working out daily under Coach Eldon R. Keil, but inclement weather has kept most of the practices indoors.

Keil has Phil Creten in the high hurdles, Ralph McGeary, Jack Olive and Les Young in the dashes, Robert Cole in the shot, Jim LaLonde in the 440, Larry Levella in the 880 and Tom Wilfong in the mile.

All of them were members of last year's team.

Among promising new members is Billy Rajala, captain of the Upper Peninsula championship basketball team, who is expected to make a strong bid in pole vault.

The team will be entering in the regional meet at Marquette and the Upper Peninsula finals at Houghton.

Lawrence Erickson Is Dartball Chief

Lawrence Erickson was elected president of the church dartball league at the annual banquet held at the Immanuel Lutheran church basement last evening.

Other officers named were: Vice president, Harvey Larson, Gladstone; secretary and news reporter, Charles Robinson; and treasurer, Harold Walk.

George Grenholm, municipal recreation director, presented trophies to the following: Bethany Lutheran Brotherhood, tournament trophy; Gladstone Re. Shirts, seasons' championship; Immanuel Brotherhood, sportsmanship. Pins were awarded to the following individuals with the highest batting averages in the tournament: Lawrence Erickson, Fred Fisher, Wm. J. Duchaine, John Hjort and Clarence Gerdeen.

Norman Hansen was the toastmaster. A brief talk on church group cooperation and sportsmanship was given by Rev. James G. Ward Sr., member of the St. Stephen's dartball team.

Government Will Train Civilians In Atomic Detection

WASHINGTON—(P)—The government is launching a nationwide program to train civilians in handling instruments which detect the presence of deadly atomic rays.

The intended scope of the program, designed to aid in home front defense in time of war, was discussed today by Paul J. Larsen, director of the office of civilian mobilization.

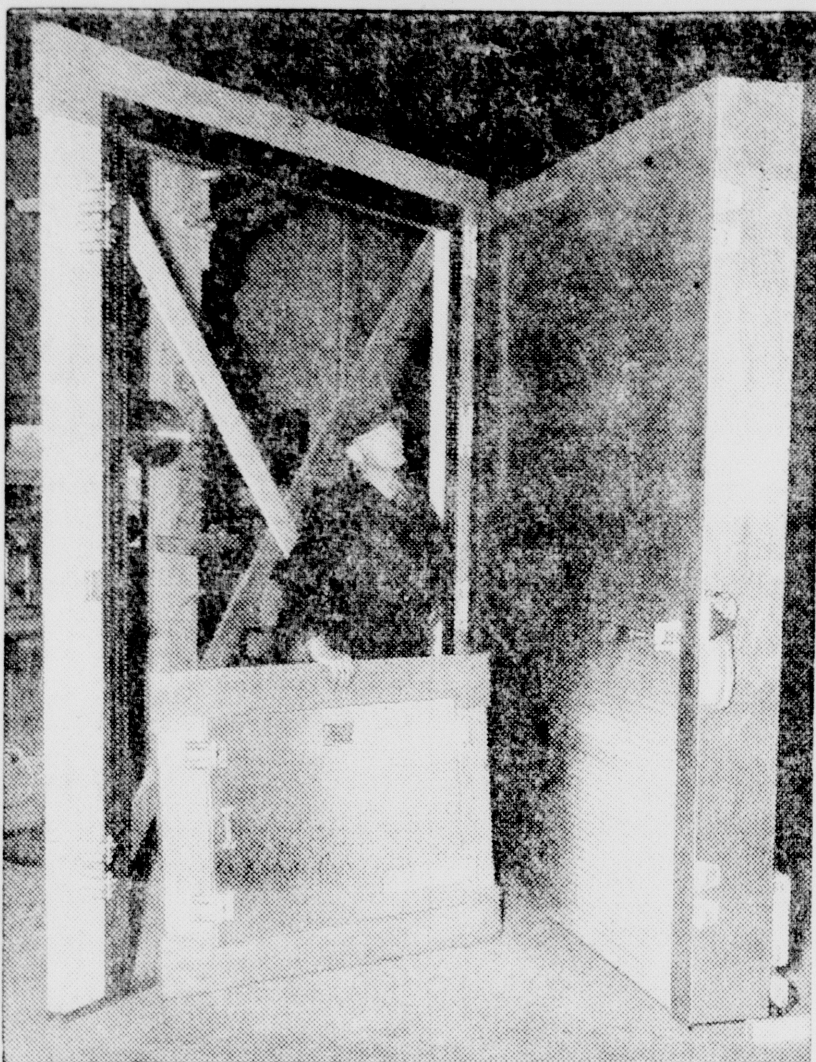

In a statement prepared for high-level courses in radiological monitoring at Brookhaven National Laboratory, Brookhaven, N. Y.; Oak Ridge National Laboratory, Oak Ridge, Tenn.; and the University of California at Los Angeles, Larsen said:

"Such monitoring services must be provided in order to protect the lives of firemen, policemen, rescue workers and others. They also must be provided to permit sound decisions on the evacuation of persons whose continued presence in a radiologically-contaminated area threatens to make them casualties."

Atomic radiation experts representing every state are attending the courses at the nuclear laboratories. They are being trained to organize and instruct civilian defense workers in their home states.

Larsen described radiological monitoring as "a new civil defense activity which became essential with the advent of nuclear weapons."

"It is an extremely important adjunct to the extensive services being planned to prevent further—and frequently needless—loss of life and property following war-time disasters."

BIGGEST FREEZER DOOR—The Chase Cold Storage Door company, one of Escanaba's newer manufacturing firms, recently shipped the largest freezer door it has produced since it began operations here. The aluminum door, weighing 1800 pounds and measuring 6 feet 3 inches by 8 feet 4 inches by 10 inches, was made for the Birdseye-Snyder division of General Foods and shipped to its freezer plant at Waseca, Minn. The above picture shows Alfred Brandt, superintendent of the Chase plant, standing near the door. Refrigerator doors are shipped from the Escanaba industry at 308 Ludington to all parts of the United States. (Daily Press Photo)
